PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENT BODY JOAN EDITOR JOHN E  BUSINESS MANAGER

One day in the spring of 1891, Dr. Crowell, then President of Trinity College, asked Robert Lee Flowers for his assistance. Trinity College was being moved from Randolph County to Durham, the work to be completed by fall, and the eager young man, scarcely out of his Naval Academy uniform, began his fiftyseven years of service to Duke University. As an instructor in electrical engineering and mathematics, Dr. Flowers combined conscientious enthusiasm with natural capability to keep close to the administration and student body as the University sought to establish itself in this new location.

The progressive measures of the expanding University brought with them

To Dr. Robert Lee Flowers, M.A.; LL.D.; educator, administrator, and friend . . . this, the 1949 Chanticleer is respectfully dedicated.

added responsibilities, but with vigor and determination Dr. Flowers worked with the interests of his beloved institution at heart. Following the death of President William Preston Few in 1941, Dr. Flowers was installed as President, completing his fiftieth year of service.

Many societies have honored him with membership, among them, Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa. In addition, he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, a social fraternity, and various civic, religious, and educational organizations.

Now, as Chancellor of the University, Dr. Flowers rounds out his years of service, close to the institution whose progress he helped insure.

1949 . . . a year of crents important for their bearing on our lixes as studemts and members of a mation. Presidents, new buildings, nipped waistlines, expanding prices, talk of rockets traveling faster than sound, and trips to Mars reach our overworked brains.
But too often these significant happenings pass us by, recognized only by a cenical shrug, as our daily life envelops us in an ivory-tower philosoplyy of life.

Our lives have been, in basic outline, a maze of blackboards and bluc books, for until now school has been the core of our existence. Soon, we are to face a new kind of world, but will it change its initial appearance? Fxaminations won't stop with the acpuisition of a diplona. They follow us through life, and athough they cone at unexpected times, their very contimity insures against error in results. Wi have an opportunity to correct our poorer efforts, but always at the risk of imparinge our positive achicrements. "(ietting by" with a few luck! braks may prove to be a more difficult proposition with our follow men holding the erading power, nos can we fail with a few unlucky answers. Perhaps, in the final analysis, a serious and scarching self-cxamimation would be the best way to prepare ourselves for these constant examinations - a self-examination to which we subject ourselves to ascertain our weaknesses and capabilities before they are uncovered by others. This is the most important cxamination of all.

Youl cannot afford to fool yourself about yourself.

T.HE rise of Duke University from the obscurity of its humble begimings is a remarkable story, brought about by the untiring efforts of farsighted, conscientious individuals. It is difficult to conceive that our university of today resembles those first few wooden buildings of 1838 in Randolph County, North Carolina. For it was there that Duke University had its origin, and it was there over a hundred years ago that the standard of the highest educational development possible was .set for our school.

When the people of Randolph County realized their need for an educational institution, they founded the school which was later supported by a group of Quakers and Methodists and named Linion In-the students themselves have made such outstanding progress and contributions in all fields that it seems worthwhile to mention some of them here. Mrs. Helen Berington has written a book, and articles for the New York Times; Dr. Blackburn, Rhodes Scholar, is President of the College English Association; and Dr. N. I. White, whose recent death shocked the college commmity, was one of the world's formost authorities on the prose and poetry of the Romantic Movement, and before his death, he was engaged in research for a book on William Godwin, English philosopher and poct. In other ficlds University professors have made valuable contributions in the line of research and publication. Dr. Hart recently received an award for his contribution to the field of sociology, and Dr. Kuder devised a psychology test, the Kuder Preference Record. Dr. Rankin is the fomeder and head of the Mathematics Teachers' Institute.

The new million dollar Engineering Building and Physies Building both demonstrate the forward advance in the field of seience our school has made. The erection of the Engineering Building, the capacity of which is double that of the old buildings, marks the latest step in the rapid ceolution of the Engincering Department at Duke. With its completion, the College of Enginecring has casily become comparable with the best in the country.

The Physies Building near the Engineering Building will be completed this summer in time to open for classes in the fall. This building, being erceted at a cost of nearly a million dollars, excluding all new equipment, will provide more rooms and better facilities for research than the old one.

The wo libraries at Duke possess from ninehumdred thousand to one million volumes, and they are rapidly growing at a rate of nearly thirty thousand columes per ecar. Construction is now underway for the enlargencme of the library on West Campus. With its completion, the stacks with aceommodate cight hundred thousand new volumes and provide seats for nine hundred readers. This addition will double the size of the origimal library.

On East Campus, one of the newer developments will be the expansion of the Parapsednology Laboratory from rooms in West Duke to a buiding formerly occupiad by the College of Enginering. The decision to move was made this year, and necessary reconstruction will start in the near future. The Laboratory, under the direction of Dr. J. B. Rhine, is a growing branch that needs room to expand. New experimental lines have been introduced, and a broad program has been launched for the collection of spontancous extra-sensory perception (1SP) experionces. No laboratory comparable to the Parapsychology Laboratory at Duke has ever been established.

The nowly decorated Asbury Building marks a trimmph for the lime Arts I (partment in that they now have for the first time a building completely devoted the study of art and music. Fach room of the building has been redeconated and equipped in the most modern manner according to the art it will accommodate.

Among the prominent artists who have visited Duke are Miss Lily Pons, the First Piano (Quartet, the 1 ondon String (Quarter, and the Ballet Russe. In the fied of literature, Duke has been honored be such spakers as Comelia ()eis Skinner, John Mason Brown, and May Shulman.

But these adrancements mentioned mark only a few of the great attributes which have given Duke the high-rank among universitics it holds today. They are only stepping stones which our sehool has made in the huge pattern of adrancement since those first few worden buildings in Randolph County. With its successful past and the noteworthy contributions being made today in every fich, we cannot help but be optimistic when we look into the future of Duke Lniversity.

Dr. Korstian is active in community life in Durham, being a member of the Rotary Club, a Mason, and a momber of the Durham Executive Comolil. In the few spare hours of his busy life, he has found time to write a series of authoritative works in the field of silviculture. In 1926 be was co-editor of the Naturalist's Guide to the Amerians. The 7,000 acre Duke Forest, used for rescarch as well as for recreational purposes, is also under Dr. Korstian's careful supervision.

Forestry is being taught at Duke on the graduate level. Since the war the selool has increased its enrollment considerably and is putting strong emphasis on the importance of the preservation of our natural forests.

There are very few unitersities in the country boasting a graduate forestry school. Duke University has its tremendous forest aralable as a giant "laboratory", covering great portions of Durham and Orange counties. The land, maturally highly productice, offers adrantages in silviculture and forest mensuration seddom found in one forest. Thus Duke University is able to offer, through its Porestry School, graduate courses leading to masters degrees and doctorates in forestry.

Students whose research is eoncerned with the study of trees in the Duke forest during the growing season, frepuenty remain at the Lniversity all summer.

MR. CIIARLISS A. I)UKES and his staff of the alumni 1 )epartment are charged with the responsibility of keceping the 21,000 living Duke Alumni in touch with the Cniversity: The department does this through such publications as the Alummi Reqister, the Alummi News, a quarterly condensation of the Register and other spectialized bulletins.

In addition to the all-important service of contacting the alommi, this department plans entertainment for them on such spectial occasions as H Omecoming, Duke University Day, Alamini weck-end during spring vacation, and Commencement. Other services to the University which they mantan include the InFommaton Desk in the Cnion Lobby on West ( ampus; the mailing office, handling all permit mailings for the Liniversity in addition to its onn; publications, catalogues, and spectal bulletins issucd by the Lniversity; the Unisersiny I louse, used for special mectings and receptions for students and alumin; and the Union lacilitics, the rooms on the second floor of the Linion Buikheng used for student and faculy mectings.

The value of these many services and respomstbititics camot be estimatad. The thformation besk is the sole comtact and terminus of ancoming telephone, telegraph, and persomal messages as well as being the econter of the University's messenger and information services. While the University publishes numcrons special bultetins hound and mailed by the Alumni Office, the mailing of thousands of general catalogues is the province of this department also. It is largely due to the Alumni Office that the Union has become the center of student and alumni affairs.

Mr. Dukes is well fitted for these responsibilities. While an undergraduate at Duke, he worked with the Alumni Office and after he received his A.B. in 1929, he was appointed Assistant Director of the Department. He continucd in this position until 194t, when the Board of Trustees appointed him Director of the Alumni Deparment.

The department works on the practical assumption that the loyalty of Duke alumni depends greatly upon kecping a close contact between them and the University; providing them with friendly and helpful service when visiting; and informing them of the needs of the University through the Register, Loyalty Fund, and other media. The suceess of the Loyalty Fund is a good example of the efficiency of this organization in contacting alumni and presenting the needs of the University.

TIIf Semor year is once of mixed emotions happy thoughts because one has attained his real purpose in coming to college a four year cducation, and he is ready to face the world, theoretically prepared be such an cducation for social and ecomomic living on a comparativedy high plane, and perhaps he has kearned in this period of associations a closer understanding of friendship and service through membership in various organizations and contact with people who share his interests and ambitions. But mixed with this fecling of pride come recollections of various events. The future, about to take us from our Gothic architecture and set us rudely in a moisy subway or office building, is approaching, and perhaps it comes as a shock to think that the day so far off in the future is actually here.

This class was the first to start in a completely peacetime regime. Men became more plentifuh, and the freshmen got the usual rush from West's suave, sophisticated inhabitants. The Sophomore year found us in the usual "slump," but Juniors returned with a hang and began to show promises of a ercat class. The "toers" they called us and we liked the name. We groanced and griped about all the ustal things fond, weather, classes, but the later years brought a more mature outlook. Classes conld become interesting with free electives something wed always wanted to study but just never could gute find the time became a reality, and the beautiful spring weather overshadowed the well-known ranfall. Weare Soniors now we can get first choice of the rooms in the section, sign up for classes first and fill up that (ireck lit. section before the administration can say "HorscFeathers!"

DEFINITELY ESTABLISHED, JUN. IORS PREPARE TO ASSUME THE ROLE OF WISE AND DIGNIFIED SENIORS

AT the beginning of this new school year, the Juniors returned well assured that they had reached the half-way mark of their college career. Upon looking back over their freshman and sophomore years, they found that they had taken part in a great many activities which had enriched their college life.

They undertook their Junior year with added vigor and vitality stimulated by the faet that there was much at stake - their scholastic record. The dreams of all the Juniors began to take on a new aspeet in the forms of Phi Beta Kappa, White Duchy, Phi Kappa Delta, and Omicron Delta Kappa, For others there was the everlastingly important item-a "C" average. Now that many had completed their required courses, they could concentrate on their majors.

All was not work for the Juniors participated in as many activitics as they could work into their schedules. As upperclassmen, they took the lead in sponsoring sings, dances, and cabin parties. Many had an interesting place in recreational and social work, and they added zest to the broad social life and did much to unify the students of East and West Campuses.

One of the most pleasant memories of the Junior year was the Co-ed Batl which is a high spot on the social calendar. Also to be recorded as footprints on the sands of time are the many pin-ups, and marriages.

As another academic year comes to a close, the Juniors sense the responsibility that is handed down to them by the departing Seniors; a duty which includes the upholding of the prestige and traditions of Duke University.

They sincerely realize the great size of the tasks before them, but as they review their Junior year which has been filled with untold accomplishments, they feel sure that they can cope with next year's work when they return as Seniors.

SOPHOMORES ...SETTLED AFTER

ONE YEAR  GIVE FRIENDLY BUT

PITYING GLANCES AT NEOPHYTES

T.HIS fall the campus was really bustling. The Sophomores greeted their last ycar's friends and also made the freshmen feel as much at home as possible and told them of the many restrictions which they had to obey. Yes, it was wonderful to be able to tell a freshman what to do instead of being the one ordered about.

Buring this second year the average sophomore knows Duke standards and traditions and thus begins to select his major fields of interest. On East Campus all the Sophomores tried to set an example for the freshmen on Goon Day and show the freshmen that so-called "Sophomore Superiority." The Rat court was the climax of Goon Day in which they tried to correet the erring freshmen.

The experiences gained in the Sophomore year prove that college life is even more enjoyable through the years and also that many lasting friendships are made. The Sophomore could do the rushing as contrasted by being rushed. There was the old familiar phase "Sophonore Slump" which had been suffered with no i!l effects.

Afrer first semester and the completion of necessary course requirements the utmost thought in every potential Junior was of the subjects and time that could be devoted to his chief interest. Even then risions of a eap and gown did not seen hazy and too far in the distant future; the possibilities for the coveted Phi Beta Kappa, White Duehy, and ODK were not just dreams but definite possibilities.

Now that summer vacation is nearing all the Sophomores anticipate it happily as a brief intermission before they again resume their studies to an ultimate end. Now the idea of four years of eollege seems to dwindle down to two, and that begins to seem very short.

THE FRESHMEN SWARM OVER THE ## CAMPUS ... WIDE-EYED YET PREPARED

TO BE COLLEGIATE AT ALL TIMES

SEPTEMBER again and from every conner of our country the freshman class once more assembles to become a powerful and important part of Duke University . . . for upon the shoulders of this class rest many responsibilities offices to assume, knowledge to attain, and expericnees to profit by Much of Duke's future depends on them, and they are here to make a worthwhile contribution.

Freshman Week arrives and with it the perennial confusion of orientation . . endless meetings, grucling placement exams, constant assemblies, and a bewildering haze of exciting and novel activities. Gradually they find themselves enlightened and prepared for the demands of university life.

Soon the upperclassmen return, and with their return eome fall cabin parties, formal danees, rushing, Sunday might sings, and unforgettable football weekends. The beautiful and inspiring weekly chapel services . . . serenades, romantic and lovely . . . Goon Day, fared yet enjoyed . . . Carolina and the traditional rivalry . . . December with its glowing Christmas trees in dormitories and the Union . . . all this makes them realize that life at Duke is wholesome and complete.

February and the weleome rest from mid-ycar exams . . . fresbman restrictions cased . . now begin to find themselves a definite and inseparable part of college . . . they sense loyalty, oneness, and an everlasting pride.

The year has ended and somelow they realize more than ever before that a college education is broadening, necessary, and invaluable. It bas brought priceless learning, deep friendships, and character-building experiences. It has brought work, play, and hopes fulfilled.

With summer vacation will come rest from studies, and healthful re'axation to prepare us for another year of college. Yet in September thoughts again turn to friends and classes . . enthusiastically and with anticipation they return to Duke.

DUE TO the marked increase in interest developed in the College of Enginecring this year, the sophomore, junior and senior classes functioned more efficiently than in recent years. Class meetings held once a month on scheduled days discussed problems of each class as a whole in all three departments of the College.

Each class contributed as a group to the furnishing of the lounge in the Engineering building. This room, set aside for informal relaxation between classes, has been furnished by the classes and the University with comfortable furniture and a Coca-Cola dispenser was installed by Student Activities.

Supervision of the conduct of engineering freslmen was handled jointly by the Order of St. Patrick and the sophomore class. These two groups sponsored an open house for engineering freshmen, supervised the construction of torches for the pep rallies and the wearing of white gloves by the first-year men. Freshmen also were elarged with cranking the engineers' siren at football games.

Two members of the sophomore class were honored by Tau Beta Pi for their excellence in scholarship during the freshman year. The men, both of whom had an average of 2.25 or better, were presented with an award.

As a gift the Senior Class presented the College of Engineering with two permanent directories. Mounted on the walls of the lobby of the new Engincering Building, one lists the location of the various faculty offices and the other lists the dates and times of the meeting of the enginecring organzations.

UNDER the able leadership of president Mary Eva Flake, secretary Peggy Chesson, and treasurer Mary Ruth Thornton, the Nurse's Student Government has been a smoothly ruming organization. Fifteen members of the student body are elected to form a student council. This council acts as a voice for the student body in faculty-student affairs. It evaluates new ideas and brings them before the student body in the monthly meetings for approval.

The Honor Council, a judiciary branch of the N.S.G.A., defines and upholds the I Ionor System under which the nurses work. Atl offenses which conecrn a breach of the honor code are handled by the executive branch of this council. Still a young group, the Nurse's Student Government Association was organized for the purpose of representing the students in a compact and efficient group. It is this body's aim to foster better relations between the student body, the Student Council, consisting of girls representing the entire body and the faculty.

T.HE COURSES of training for a student nurse is one of many satisfactions and daily lessons in both the science of medicine and the art of human relations. Nurses train for a period of three years. The program includes laboratory classes, lectures and clinical experiences.

The life of a student nurse is sometimes a little harassed. The arrangement of duty hours varies from day to day. Every student must spend a designated length of time on each of the medical services and when one service's technigues are mastered she must begin a new service.

The social life of the student is far from uninteresting. Some of the events on the social calendar for this year have been the S.G.A. dance at Christmas, and of course, the JuniorSenior dance. As for sports this year a freshman baseball team was organized. The basketball team, consisting of nurses from all classes, had a very successful year.

One project for the year was the organization of the freshman advisory council to aid in orienting new students. This has taken the place of the former big sister plan and has proven to foster a better relationship among the students.

A pleasant surprise came to the nurses this year in the form of a revision of the educational program. Senior students interested in obtaining a baccalaureate degree from the University were granted the privilege of taking electives in the undergraduate school for one semester.

From all these experiences the Nurses have gained the realization that their profession is the highest type of service to mankind. Every patient is a challenge to their ability and training, but they are well prepared to meet whatever problems present themselves. They emerge from their course of training with the conviction that life as a nurse is wonderful.

DUKE'S PIGSKIN PARADE FOR '48

WITli prospects for the coming season none too bright Duke's football charges buckled down early in September to try to field a commendable team. Worried by the loss of such stalwarts as Benny Cittadino, Buddy Mulligan, and Fletcher Wall, the Blue Devil coaches sought cagerly for able replacements.

Even though pre-scason forecasts looked dim for the Blue and White, they managed to turn in creditable results weckend after weekend. The men, replacing missing starters of last year, showed brilliance. Although tied in their first two attempts, the Devils remained undefeated until meeting a powerful Cieorgia Tech eleven.

Many of the Blue Devils received places and honorable mentions on the All-American and All-Southern teams. Leading the way was Captain Al DeRogatis, named to players AllAmerican, followed by Fred Folger, Bill Duncan, Lou Allen, Bill Davis, and Carl Perkinson.

The Blues started with a tie with State and Wallace Wade, Couch, and Al Derogatus, Cithun.

Tennessee, emerged victorious over Nary, Maryland, and VPl. They then dropped two tough games to Georgia Tech and Navy. After bouncing back in the win column with a rout of George Washington the Devils concluded their season with a loss to bowl-bound North Carolina, in a rencwal of one of the gridiron's oldest and greatest rivalries.

D CKV゙S BILEVEVIIS opened their $19+8$ scason in a splash of power on September 25, by brow-beating a stubborn State lileven into a (0-0 tie. The contest saw the Devils and the Wolfpack taking their turns marching up and down the green turf of Raleigh's Riddick Stadiom.

Both teams had ample seoring opportunities, but neither secmed to have the drive to turn the opportumity into success.

The lines played great ball, with Bill Davis and lou Allen leading the Duke charges. Carl Perkinson's excellent defense play and the scampers of Jack Mounic were highlights of the game for the louke fans.

OPENING their home seasom, Duke's Grid Giants played a strong Tennessee eleven to a $7-7$ stalemate before a small erowd of 22,000 fans.

Duke mored like a house atire in the first few minutes of the ball game. After letting the Volunteers get the feel of the ball for about a minute, the Devils took possession of the ball and marched for their only score. The drive was climaxed when a Folger pass was caught by Ed Austin in pay territory. This was the seeond score for the Blue Devils in their last six games. Mike Souclak then converted to make the score 7-0.

But it just wasn't the day for the Blue Devils to keep moving. The visiting Vols took over but weren't able to score in the first quarter although they twice penetrated deep into Duke territory. A stout Duke line reared up and stopped both attacks of the visitors on the Devil twenty-two and thirty-two. Soon the Volunteers passing attack went into action, and a thirty-mine yard heave from Littleford to Temessee eaptain Powell gave the Knoxville boys their only seore. Powell then converted for the extra point and scoring for the afternoon was at an end.

Paul Stephanz and Tommy Hughes foul up the defense of the Vols while Fred Folger cagerly reaches for the bill that secms to have come from out of the "bluc." As 22,000 fans watched, the hard-fought tussle, one of the most excitmg in the 1948 season, ended in a $7-7$ deadlock.

THIE BLUE DEVILS, lad by Fred Folger and Bill Cox, unleashed a powerful ground attack to capsize a fighting Nary crew by a score of 28-7. After Folger intercepted a Middy pass and raced 36 yards to the Navy five, Paul Stephanz crashed off-taekle for a touchdown on Duke's first offensive play of the game. Mike Souchak added the first of four placements. The Devils led 7-0 after two minutes of play

In the third period, Cox thrilled 25,000 fans with a sparkling sixty yard touchdown gallop On third down, the young sophomore faked a punt and scampered sixty yards behind beautiful blocking of Davis and Allen for the seore. Later in the same quarter, Navy's Baysinger attemped to kick from his six, but the boot was smothered and Bill Duncan pounced on the ball for another six points

In the final quarter, Jack Friedlund ended the scoring on a twenty yard reverse play

The aggressiveness of the Duke line was an outstanding factor in the triumph Lou Allen, Bill Davis, and Duncan were continually dumping Nary backs behind the line of scrimmage.

ON OCTOBER 16, at Criffith Stadium in Washington, the resurgent Blue Devils outfought a previously undefeated and unscored upon Maryland eleven in a bitterly contested game to gain their second consecutive victory.

The battle was thrilling from start to funish. Duke hit pay-dirt first on a pass from Fred Folger to Tommy Hughes, who after gathering in the ball on the Maryland thirty-five, scampered the remaining distance for the score. Mike Souchak then converted successfully for what proved to be the winning point of the game. The Terps came right back for their first score, but missed the conversion. The game winning touchdown came in the third quarter. Billy Cox took the ball around right end, cut back to the middle of the field, and then outmaneuvered the last two Marylander defenders to travel 82 yards to put Duke in front for good, 13-12.

The Gobblers, surprising the dopesters, played heads up ball all the way, putting down one Duke threat after another. The only score of the game eame on a great run by wingback Tommy Hughes on a reverse play which covered forty-five yards.

Tyo \ Pl threats were by pass interceptions. Fred Folger snagged the first in the first quarter to halt the Gobbler attack on the Duke twenty, and Carl Perkinson, playing his usual splendid ball behind the line, pulled one in on the Duke twenty-five late in the third quarter.

It looked as though Duke had another score in the fourth quarter when the Devils, led by Jack Mounic and Earle McKeown, plowed from their twenty-five down to the V'PI seven. However, at that point their attack fizzled out.

MIRACLES never cease! A Wade-coached team used the "T." Still the Blue Devils were unable to whip the Demon Deacons from Wake Forest. The Baptists walked away with a 27-20 win and their first triumph over the Methodists since 1942.

Wake forest opened fast, and after a bad Duke punt, marehed twenty-three yards to their first seore.

Đuke tied the score after moving thirty-four yards, with Momic going over from the one. Souchak's attempt for the extra point was wide and the seore was 7-6. The Devils then went ahead after a fifty-two yard drive climaxed by a nincteen yard pass of Bill Cox to Tommy Hughes. Souchak's conversion was good, and the score was 13-7, Duke.

Shortly before the first half, the seore was knotted on a long Blackerby pass. The attempt for the conversion was no good.

The next set of downs proved epochal for the Duke followers. It was for the first time a Wallace Wade coached team used any form of the "T" formation. But it proved successful. Bob Frye lateraled to Jack Friedlund who went cighty-two yards for the score.

On the first play in their next series of downs, Duke fumbled on their own two. It didn't take the Deacons long then, for on the second play they went over for what proved to be the wimning margin.

In their only shutout game of the year, the Blue Devis deteated the Colonials from (icorge Washington, 62-0. In the picture, Billy (on, with the bali, makes for the wide open spaces while Jack Eslick, with evident determination, discourages an opposing player from any further action.

Shoultha their best offensive display of the season, Duke's Blue Devils closed their home season with a $62-0$ over the George TVashington Colonials. The Devils amassed their highest point total since the $19+5$ season.

Friedlund intercepted an Andy Davis pass on the G.VI. 31. The Duke boys then rolled over the Colonial line for their first score with Mounie carrying it over for the Devils.

Duke then took over and was led bey speedster Jim Brown for 52 yards for their second score with Stephanz going over from the one yard line. Souchak missed the conversion.

The Devils again rolled to a score after Bill Cox returned a G.IV. punt to their nineteen. Mounie scored for the second time.

BLUE IMPS-EMBRYO BLUE DEVILS

ALTHOUGH the Freshman gridders did not win any games, they gave their followers an exciting type of ball. Breaks sometimes hurt the boys, but they were always fighting, and from them you can expect to see the Duke stars of tomorrow.

The Blue Imps opened against Wake Forest, losing by the score of 32-7. The Dukesters scored in the second quarter on a pass from Gcorge Grune to Blame Earon. Gino Conti converted for the extra point.

Tired by the trip, the lmps lost a heartbreaking 52-0 game to the Nary Plebes at Annapolis. Duke's lone seore in their 19-7 loss to William and Mary was the result of a punt blocked by John Minnick, who picked up the ball and romped for the seore.

Although outplaying the State eleven, the Blue lmps eame out on the short end of a $1+-13$ score. Glenn Wild, little passing star of the lmps, passed the State boys crazy. He completed two for touchdowns.

But Wild was terrific in the Carolina game, when he completed twenty-two out of thirtyfive passes. John Crumley scored three times for the lmps, with Gibson adding the remaining seore and converting after the touchdowns.

The Junior Varsity Gridders this year were, for the most part, on the inactive list for their football games were usually confined to pregame warm-up scrimmages with the Duke rarsity squad. Throughout the season men from coach Bob Cox's White Squad were advanced to the regular varsity squad where they proved invaluable in many ways, adding much to Duke's hopes when the ganes were close and the going tough.

Coach Cox had as assistants two excellent coaches- Prancis Harrison as mentor of the hard-charging forward wall, and Camen Falcone as backficld coach.

1OSDNG only one starting man from last year's team, Capt. Doug Ausbon, Coach Jerry Gerard worked hard to have his boys in shape for the first game with Hanes I losiery. Two newcomers, "Shag" Hibbitts and Nard Pergrem, both Kentucky Jumior College transfers, helped the situation greatly but the Devils still lost their first game to Hanes 58-57.

The Devils won their next game $70-51$ agamst the McCrary Eagles at Ramseur, N. C. All the Blue Devils played well with Hilliard Nance looking good for the semi-pros. Returning home for their first game, the Gerardmen met undefeated I Tampden-Sydney and won 58-50. The Devils next beat the U, of Virgimia 47-37, with Collins and Cecp Youmans scoring 17 points cach.

In a slow game against the Me Crary Eagles, the Devils won their fourth straight 51-36 with "Curly" Cordon scoring 13 points.

Playing their first conference game of the year agamst Davidsom at (harlotte, the Devils sparked by Ben Collins who pumped 27 points through the nets, won $58-t 1$. Pergem, playing in his first game, looked good along with Whit Cobb, steady Davidson guard.

straight win, the Gerardmen were led by Collins, Soumans and Hughes, who incidentally played the entire game. Playing their first intersectional game of the season, the Dukesters lost to Tomple 59-45. Sparked by Nelson Bobb who made 11 out of 22 shots from the floor and a total of 28 points, the OwIs broke the Devil's win streak. Ben Collins, holding Borsatage to four points, racked up 16 himself.

53-52. Although Youmans was high for Duke, all the boys played well with Hughes and Youmans going the distance along with Diekey of State. The game was very rough and four players fouled out.

Sparked by Youmans, who made the first 12 points of the game, the Devils got revenge on V.P.I. with a 65-52 win. Ceep made 21 the entire game and along with Sapp and Hughes played fine ball.

Definitely off form, the Devils lost to an inspired Wake Forest team led by Najeway and Geary, 52-50 over at Baptist Hollow. There were a total of 53 fouls called, Duke making 26 foul shots which was what kept them in the game.

The Gerardmen returned home to meet and defeat the Davidson Wildeats 57-51. The Wildeats the night before beat Carolina 10 points, but led by Ben Collins' 20 points, the Devits won a hard fought game. Whit Cobb and Mike Williams with 12 points apiece, sparked the W'ildeat attack.

Carl Sapp, playing the best game of his career, was the big factor in the Devils' 55-t? win over Navy. Carl couldn't miss and at one time made five straight shots from the slot position - 19 points in all.
()n Friday night N. Y. U. made its first appearance at Duke and although heavily favored, lost 73-4t. The Blue Devils put on an exhibition of basketball that long will lise in the momory of the fans who saw the game. Making 37 per cent of their shots the Devils were led by Youmans in the first half and Sapp and Hughes in the second. All the boys played great ball: Martin, Scarborough, York. In the last 15 secouds, Tom Wallingford and Buck Cheek both dumped in field goals to give the Devils their highest total of the season. Jensen, Dohlon, and Kaufman led the Violets attack, which netted only 3 field goals in the second half.

Showing the effects of a heary schedule, the Gerardmen lost the next might to Carolima $6+-3+$. The Phantoms, hitting on +1 per cent of their shots, played their best game of the season and were too much for the Duke quintet. Sapp led the loser's attack, getting 9 points.

The next week proved costly to the Devils, who lost two important games in the Southern Conference. Losing to George Washington 51-49 in Washington, the Devils were led by Ben Collins but never seemed to find themselves. Maynard Haithcock, a North Carolina boy, was high for the winners.

Then the Wolfpack of State cked out a $47-4+$ win in Raleigh. Both teams were definitely off and the game was really a rough house. Sam Ranzino lod the State attack with 17 points while the Duke scoring was evenly divided. Duke made 20 out of $3+$ free throws which kept them in the game.

On the next night, the Devils beat one of the Southeastern's better teams, (ieorgia 'Tech, 53-42. Dave Scarborough, playing his lest game of the yar, led Duke to a wide first half margin and then the Devils seemed to coast to victory over the Ycllow Jackets, sparked by Anderson.

ON THE GROUND AND IN THE AIR-THE CINDER CIRCUIT

I.III: 1948 Blue Devil Track Team brought its scason to a close with a third place standing in the Southern Conference. The Devils boasted several of the best trackmen in the South. The team got off to a slow start; however, it showed marked improvement as the season progressed. The team was ably coached by Coaches R. I. Chambers, H. Mi. Lewis, and R. U. Montfort.

The Blue Devils were captained by Loren Young, star middle distance rumner. Young has been particularly outstanding in the +40 yd . run but has performed well in the 220 yd . dash and on the champion mile relay team. Rodger Neighborgall was the high point man for the year with Jim O'l eary in second place. Letter winners for the year were: D. Ausbon, B. Bachr, B. Bowles, J. Colvin, B. Davis, D. Dunham, B. Cirisso, (.. James, R. Neighborgall, J. O'L cary, B. Scupinc, L. Young, and B. Yon (manager).

The Blue Devils opened their outdoor season with a trip to the University of Florida to participate in the Florida Relays. This meet saw some of the best track teams in the country competing. The Devils sprint medly team placed second in that relay event and Jackson tied for third place in the pole vault.

In the U. N. C. Relays at Chapel Hill the sprint medly team placed first and the mile relay copped second place. Duke's vaulter Colvin took a second place in both the pole vault and high jump. Don Dunham took a third place in the javelin as did O'Leary in the shot put.

Taking 10 first places out of $1+$ events, the Blue Devils defeated the University of Virginia trackmen at Charlottesville by a score of $6712-$ $58^{1} 2^{2}$ on April 12. Double wins by Loren Young in the 220 and 440 yard dashes and Roger Neighborgall in half mile and mile runs helped turn back the Cavaliers despite their clean sweep in the 100 yard dash. All places in the pole vault and a wiming 48 foot shot put heave by Jim O'L Leary helped to clinch the meet.

At the 54 th amnal running of the Pem Relays, the Duke cindermen took second place in the Class B college mile relay. The Duke relay tam tied Princeton for this position, while Morgan State captured top honors in the event.

Despite outstanding performances by the stars Neighborgall, Scupine, Colvin, and O'Leary, Duke lost the day to Cieorge Tech by a score of is to 53 on May 1 . The most spectacular event on the Atlanta track that day was the thrilling mile relay. Each lap of the race ended in almost a dead heat, but Ncighborgall edged ahead of his opponent to break the tape in a blanket finish.

A margin of only 6 points defeated Duke in its dual meet with North Carolina State College. First places by Neighborgall in the half mile and mile runs, by Scupine in the 100 yard dash, Young in the +40 dash, Dumham in the javelin throw, Bowles in the pole vault, and Ausbon in the broad jump were impressive but could not overcome the $66-60$ defeat at the hands of the Wolfpack.

At their home track on May 7 , the Duke tracksters took a heartbreaking 675-6 to 63 1-6 defeat by the Navy track squad. Excellent performance in the field events plus wins in the mile relay and 220 yard low hurdles kept Duke within striking range of a victory throughout the meet. Bill Scupine, who improved greatly as the season progressed, was clocked in the 220 yard low hurdles at 23.5 , tying the University record set in 1938 and equalling the Southern Conference record. Sophomore vaulter, John Colvin, cleared the bar at 13 feet, taking first place in this event.

Jim O'Leary shared high point honors with two rival stars, having captured firsts in the shot put and discus.

Doug Austem, Blue Deril broad jumper, making his mark at the dual meet with North Carolona State College. Duke lost ontobo.

At the thrill-packed Southern Conference track and field mect at Chapel Itill, N. C.. Duke finished in third place behind heavily favored North Carolina and Maryland. Duke trackmen captured three first places to share with North Carolina the lead in victories. Jim O'Leary's toss of 50 ft ., 7 inches not only won the shot put event but also set a new mark in the Southern Conference record book. A throw of 189 feet, one and one-half inches gave top honors in the javelin throw to Don Dumam. Defending its title earned the previous year, the Blue Devil team, composed of Buddy (irisso, Brandon Davis, Loren Young, and Roger Neighborgall, trimmphed again in the mile relay cwent. Sccond places were taken by Neighborgall in the 880 yard run, Oleary in the discus throw, and Bowles in the pole vault.

In the final meet of the season Duke's cindermen bowed to a powerful U. N. (.. track team 81-50.

Roger Neighborgall, Doug Ausbon and Bill Scupine ended their track careers with the termimation of the $19+8$ track scason. Their keasing is a great loss to the Blue Devils.

Foo much camont be said in praise of the mile relay team. It was a consistent winner throughout the scasom, a certainty to contribute badly needed points to the team.

Smith of Tech, first in the race, was followed closely by Griffith, Spach, Bullock, Ellsworth, and Grisso, in that order. U. N. In a good closer Duke defeated Virginia here by a score of 20-35. Virginia's Exams was first, setting a new record of $20: 55$. However, Duke took second by placing Ellsworth, Giriffith, Spach, Bullock, and Grisso in a five way tie.

ALTHOLGilf prospects did not look too good for the Devilfish at the begiming of the season, the Duke swimming tean, at the time the annual went to press, won three and lost two meets.

The "Fish" opened their season by appearing in an invitational meet at Carolina on Thanksgiving Day.

In the first regular meet, the Dukesters bowed to Carolina by 58-17. Wimers for Duke were Johmy Comer in the fancy diving, who set a pool record - the third time he has bettered his own pool record, and Bill Brackney in the 100 yard freestyle.

Duke outswam a good William and Mary team by the score of 54-21. Duke won every match, with Conner again lading the way.

Freestylist Bill Adams led the Devilfish over the swimmers of V'PI by pulling in ten points for firsts in the 220 and +40 yard freestyles. Johmy Comer remained undefeated as did Bill Brackney.

The Middies of the Naval Academy proved too much for the Duke boys, $46-29$. Conner again was superb in his speciality. Bill Brackney made it three straight, and Adams again came through with a win in the 440 yard freestyle. The $4+0$ yard relay team of Brackney, Limaweaver, Overdorff, and Miller won by a forfeit.

The freshmen and seconds of the Duke tank tean won a meet with the Norfolk Division of William and Mary be the score t2-33. Limaweaver was the big gun with two firsts and was on the wimning relay team.

Matches still remained with Emory, Georgia Tech, VMI, Virginia and North Carolina State.

Idanseldanll

ON RECORD the 1948 edition of the Duke Baseball team was not as impressive as in years gone by. However, Duke has always provided the best brand of college baseball to be found in the country, and this year was no exception.

The season began with a two game series at Gastonia, N. C., against a hard-hitting Rex Mills outfit. The Spinners won out in the first game when they combed five Duke pitchers for a total of ten hits and eleven rums. The Blue Devils were able to garner only two runs on seven hits off Rex's pitching, but turned the tables somewhat on the following day by rapping out an unimpressvie 19-10 victory that featured homeruns by D'Alonzo and Sires and a total of thirtecn errors by both teams.

The road trip continued with a two-game excursion to Clemson, and the Dukesters managed to take both contests by scores of 5-3 and 3-2. Bud Ayres reccived eredit for the first win, and Paul Karukstis the second, aided by sone nifty relicf work on the part of Dick Strauch. Freshman shortstop Billy Bergeron and second-baseman Jerry Frye continued their heary stickwork.

BLUE DEVIL DIAMOND CUTTERS

Duke wound up its Southern swing by splitting a two-game series with South Carolina, 9-6 and 6-10. Faley and Davis were the winning and losing pitchers respectively.

Due to unforeseen action on the part of the administration in shifting the spring racation, Duke opened its home scason before an uninspiring crowd of groundkecpers. The Dukesters took this opportunity to hand Coach Jack Coombs his 300 th victory over a 19 -year span by defeating a powerladen Pennsylvania outfit 11-10 in ten innings. Freshmen Hancock and Bergeron continued to impress both afield and at bat.

It took four pitchers and four homeruns for Duke to defeat a scrappy Cornell nine 18-15 in its second home game against touring Northern teams. Johmy Falwell punched out two round trippers while Fred Folger and Stu Erickson got one apiece. Big, brawny, freshman pitcher, Al Curtis showed promise of future usefulness that was to come later in the season.

A semblance of baseball returned in the next two games with Ohio University, the Blue Devils gaining a split with the Buckeyes, 6-5 and 5-4. In the first game Leroy Sires replaced

Coorge Clark at bat and Fired Maller, catching during practice

Captain Ed MeCarthy behind the plate and displayed some impressive stickwork while Jerry Shevick and Dick Strauch combined their slants to limit the Ohio boys to ten hits. On the following day Bud Ayres became the first Duke pitcher to go the route when he chucked a four-hitter at the Buckeyes, but lost out due to the ineptness of his mates and his own wildness.

The Quantico Marines, All-Navy Champions of 1947 , then handed Duke their fourth loss of the young season by an $8-5$ score. This game marked the appearance of Ed Perini as a starting outfielder, and he was to lend invaluable service with the bat for the remainder of the season.

Looking for their eighth triumph, the Blue Devils found a willing victim in a touring Yale nine, defeating them 10-1. Paul Karukstis completely baffled the Eli as his mates hopped on two Vale pitchers for $1+$ hits and 10 runs.

On the 11th of April, Duke put its Big Four Championship on the block for the first time and came away on the short end of an 18-14 count as N. C. State blasted o Duke pitchers for $2+$ hits in the wildest game of the season.

A few days later Duke's Big Four graph

continued downward as Wake Forest defeated Duke $7-4$, to become the first Deacon varsity athletic team to beat a Duke Team in two years.

It was in the next game that Al Curtis proved himself to be the only really reliable pitcher on the Duke staff, as he pitched Duke to its first Big Four win - a 5-1 victory over N. C. State. It was here too that Stu Erickson gained the position of foremost slugger on the Duke squad as he lashed out his 3 rd home run of the year.

Carolima then plunged Duke to the bottom of the Big Four in a tight, exciting game in which Duke used four pitchers. Vimie Delorenzo, ace of the Carolina staff had to be brought in to check a Blue Devil rally in the 7th, a rally that fell short as Delorenzo spoiled any other attempts by Duke for a victory, with the Tar Heels winning 6-5.

Wake Forest spilled the Blue Devils for the second time in the next Big Four Tilt, as Duke again used four pitchers to $n o$ avail. The Devils continued to hit well, however, with Jerry Frye, John Fahwell, and Red Lucas pacing the attack, Falwell's contribution being a +20 -foot round tripper.

Little Davidson hadn't beaten a Duke bascball team since 1934, but they too liked the offerings of the Duke pitchers and banged out a $9-5$ victory over the Bluc Devils to bring the Duke record to an even 9 wins-9 losses.

On April 28 Duke's baseball fortunes reached the lowest ebb of the season as Wake Forest defeated the Coombsmen for the third time 12-9.

From this point on, however, the Duke graph began to swing upwards. South Carnlina moved in for a two-game serics, and the Gamecocks dropped both games, 6-3 and 8-7. Al Curtis turned the trick in the first encounter, handeuffing the South Carolinians until ? were out in the ninth when Diek Strauch relieved. A six run seventh imning uprising put the Dukesters on top in the second game to give Jerry Shevic a well-deserved win.

Duke continued its winning ways on May 4 at Chapel Hill when they nosed out Carolina $6-t$ in one of the most exciting games of the year. A five-run rally in the ninth featured by Al I'Alonzo's booming triple and a brilliantly executed triple play to retire the Tar Heels in the last of the ninth gave the Combsmen a spectacular rictory.

Wake Forest was the next opponent, and Coach Coombs, secking at least one win over the Deacons, sent Al Curtis to the mound. The big boy was equal to the task as he limited the Deacs to six hits and one run, wiming 2-1.

It was Curtis again on the following Wednesday when he pitched masterful four hit-one run ball in beating State, $8-1$ to move Duke into a tie for second place in the Big Four race. Stu Erickson accounted for four of the eight runs when he laced a 380 -foot grand slam home-run high and far over the left field hedge.

With only wo days rest, Curtis took the mound again on Saturday to face the Carolina Tar Heels. The husky freshman staggered through to a $3-2$ win, when Jerry Prye singled home for Stu Erickson with the wimning run in the ninth.

Curtis was then assigned the arduous task of starting his third game in a week when he faced the N. C. State team and lost out 9-4, thereby clinching the Big Four title for U.N.C.

On May 22nd, Duke closed out the season by losing to Carolina 10-8. Stu Erickson, however, provided the highlight of the game when he laced out his second grand slam home-run of the season.

Over the year the Duke record was 15 wins, 12 losses. In the Southern Conference 10 wins and 9 losses, and in the Big Four, Duke finished third with five wins and seven losses.

Ed Perini led the team in hitting with a $.3+7$ average. Stu Erickson was the top slugger with six home runs, twenty-eight runs batted in, and a .317 batting average. Freshman Jack Hancock sported a .31t arerage and played errorless ball, not a small accomplishment for a first-sacker. Bill Bergeron hit .333 and played brilliantly at shortstop. The most effective pitcher was Al Curtis, challing up a 0 -2 record. Jerry Shevic also hat a good record, + wins, no losses.

Four men were lost by graduation-Ifenry Smith, Ed Perini, (icorge Clark, and Captain Ed MeCarthy. It is 130 secret, however, that Coach Coombs will have a wealth of material this year and Duke slould be the team to beat in the Southern Conference.

As the yearbook went to press, the baseball team was starting south to open its $19+9$ season,

Carolina players, with grim determination, argue violently with the resolute umpre during the Duke-Carolina game last spring the first time such a trip to Florida had been taken. With a schedule of thirty-one games, the longest and most difficult they have ever had, the team looked forward to a first class season with the outfield, infield and catching duties in the hands of experienced men.

Stopping first at Mercer College in Macon, Gcorgia, the team planned to play cleven games in three southern states. After Mercer, they went to Winter Park, Florida for a three day stand against Rollins College. Last season most of the load of the job of pitcher fell on big, strong-armed freshman, Al Curtis, one of barrell Williams, shortstop

the finest mound prospects in the South, but this season should see such aspirants as Paul Karukstis, Bud Ayers, Brandon Davis and Dick Strauch helping out.

Last year's regular infield returned intact. Jack Hancock who played errorkess ball for the entire $19+8$ season, handed first base duties. Jerry Frey, at second, Bill Bergeron, at shortstop, and John Falwell, at third, round out the group with Al D'Alonzo and Bill Williams ready to move into regular positions.

Stu Erickson, home run king of the Big Vour league, paced the returning outficlders with Lucas and Folger.

THE 1948 aggregation of Blue Devil golfers took top honors in sectional as well as national competition. Coach Hagler's linksmen finished a highly successful season in which they won a total of eleven matches as against only two defeats. Two of the top-noteh intersectional teams, Florida and Michigan, were included in the list of the Deril's victims.

Wake Forest edged the Big Blue, 15-12, to end an eleven-year wiming streak on the Hope Valley home course. Previously Duke had on this course taken the measure of thirty-three opponents without defeat.

North Carolina State also upset the Haglermen, but the defeat was avenged by a smashing victory in the return match at the Hope Valley course.

The Tarheels of North Carolina, boasting one of the nation's top collegiate golfers in Harvie Ward, fell victim to the Bhic Devil onslaught by the score of 25-2. Little Jimmy McNair, performing brilliantly under pressure, defeated Ward four and three.

In tournament play the Dukesters were also highly successful. In the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament, the Devils lost by two strokes to a great team from Louisiana State University. A measure of consolation from WIHEN THE call for candidates for the soccer team was issued by Coach K. C., "Jerry," (ierard the outlook was nonc too bright. Returning from last ycar's good squad were seven lettermen and several squad members, but most of the squad was inexperienced. They traveled to Lexington, Va, to play Washington and Lee "Cencrals" in their initial game. Duke's two goals in the first half by last year's leading scorer, "Rod" Rigione and one by "Chico" Cranitois in the third quarter were enough to sustain Washington and Lee's last quarter spurt, and to win 3-1. Next the Duke soccermen journeyed to Richmond to play the Richmond Professional Institute. The RPI lads had spirit, but the tricky Blue Devils were too much and won casily 13-1. At High Point, "Rod" kicked two goals and "Chico" once A $3-1$ victory was obtained.

GERARDMEN KICK THEIR WAY TO A HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The toughest competition of the season faced the "Booters" at U.N.C. Throughout four regular quarters and two five-minute overtime periods neither was able to score. At Charlottesville the two classy Latin-Americans booted the Blue Devils back into the win column with a 3-1 victory orer the "Cavaliers." The U.N.C. game at home was the poorest game played by the soccermen all season. A quick goal by U.N.C. was never overcome. High Point invaded Duke for the last game of the scason and promptly scored two quick goals; it seemed the Blue Devils were destined for another defeat. In the third guarter Duke's tricky ball controlling game started to click. Two fast goals by D'Alonzo and a sensational twenty-five yard goal by "Rod" thirty scoonds after the kickoff following the last goal put Duke ahead to stay 3-2. The Blae Devils had trimmphed for the most successful season in Duke soccor history.

THE GRUNT AND GROAN '‘FALL’’ GUYS

Afrom the strong 1948 wrestling team, Coach Carmen Falcone's 't8 squad showed promise in its early mects of developing into a top contender for the Southern Conference championship.

The Devil grapplers opened the season by stopping Virginia Tech 19-8 in Durham. Joe Orzano, who pinned his opponent in the first period, and J. C. Gallagher turned in outstanding performances.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack were next for the Bib Blue matmen, and the West Raleigh groaners succumbed 24-6. Orzano pinned his man for the second straight week as Duke ralled to an easy victory. Dan Moser won his match with a fall, while Stork, Gallagher, Harrison, and McMaster kept their scasonal records unblemished by turning in wins. Britt's loss to Musser was one of the match’s most exciting bouts.

Maryland played host to the Dukes, January 15, and topped the invaders $20^{1}{ }_{2}{ }^{-71} 2$. Wins by Bill Britt and John McMaster and Alex Stork's draw accounted for the Duke scoring.

Returning to their home mats the Falconemen whipped (icorgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, 16-11. Moser, (rallagher, Stork, and Harrison turned in triumphs for the Blue and White.

IHIS YEAR the Intramural Athleties program seemed to be reaching its long sought goal, a prominent place on the Duke University campus. Never before, since the begimning of the organized program in 1934, was the participation on the part of individuals and organizations so enthusiastic. This success is due manly to the hard work of the managers, the directors, and the Intramural Board. No small credit must be given to the Chromicle for its increased interest in publicizing the program. In eomparison with other universities of the same curollment, Duke has a greater varicty of sports and a greater number of participants.

Probably the greatest event of the 1947-48 scason was the introduction of Big Four Play Day. This is to be an annual competition between Duke University, the University of North Carolina, North Carolina State College, and Wake Forest Collcge in non-collcgiate Sports. Duke almost made a clean sweep of victories in winning four out of the six sports. The teams took first place in softball, volleyball, badminton, and table temnis; second place in horseshoes; and third in handball. U.N.C. was second. Other sports will probably be added to the agenda in the future.

For the first time in many years a freshman house won the wrestling match. House N placed two winners to claim the trophy. The individual winners were McCraw (Pi Kappa Phi), Phillips (House N), Gallagher (Sigma Nu ), Gordon (House N), Wamsley (Phi Delta Theta), Britt (Alpha Tau Omega), Jeske (Kappa Sigma), and Sherrill.

In the $19+8$ spring sports, Sigma Chi took the University Championship in track; Beta Theta Pi won the softball Championship; the Kappa Alpha Clowns triumphed in basketball; Sigma Chi defeated all contestants in the Volleyball Tournament; Sigma Alpha Epsilon won a close race in swimming; Alpha Tau Omega took the first gymmastics contest; and Kappa Alpha walked off with the golf honors. In the individual sports, Wamsley, Phi Delta Theta, won the badminton singles, while Tayfor and Kirchofer took the doubles. Sullivan, Kappa Alpha, and the team of Massey and Villanueva, Pi Kappa Phi, fought hard to win the doubles cups. Taylor, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, could not be touched as he placed first in handball singles. Cherry and Weiss made a comeback to win the handball doubles.

Bob Taytor was the envy of all competitors when he succeeded in walking off with the Sembuser Award for the second year in a row.

The KA's make a break for the promised land, but it looks as though the SAE's have other ideas. Touch football is a big IM sport.

Taylor at all times exemplified the qualities set by the committee for this highest honor.

A wide enough varicty of activities is offered to enable every student to compete in the sports of his own choice, and competition is carefully graded so as to assure every participant of mecting opposition on his own level of ability. Moreover, a carcfully selected and well-trained staff of officials is ahways on hand to supervise all contests. It cannot be recommended too strongly that every student participate.

LEARNING THE SKILLS OF SPORTS PARTICIPATION

1IISSICAL education for women at Duke University is a story of development from a onc-roon gym in Southgate to the three story building and its excellent facilitics which are used today. Miss Julia Grout came to Duke twenty-five years ago as the only director of athleties, and the staff now includes nine efficient teachers. When East Campus was occupied by the men, athletic facilities for women were very limited. Whan the men moved to the other campus, the girls had full use of the gymmasium. Now temis courts, a swimming pool, a cotton ball golf course, a hockey field and baseball diamond, bowling alleys, and the best in equipment and instruction are available to Bast Campus. Cirls are required to take three years of physical cducation and one rhythm, tean sport, and individual sport must be included. Freshmen are required to take body mechanics and an orientation and social hygiene course first semester. At the begiming of the year as a part of their orientation, freshmen are given tests in motor ability, rhythm, swimming, and health knowledge, after which they receive guidance in selecting those courses which will be of value.

Four years ago, physical education was introduced as a major subject for those who wish to qualify as full-time or part-time teachers of health and physical education; and the department is very proud of their majors at present. Physical education majors are offered such subjects as recreational leadership, the history and principles of physical education, organization and administration, and methods

The Athletic Deparment often brings to Duke prominent people in the field of sports to give exhibitions and help the students. This year, John Ilendrix gave an exhibition temnis match in the spring and in the fall.

The W.A.A., Women's thletic Association, sponsors varicd activities throughout the school year. Freshman weck a pienic was held outside the gymmasium for all girls on East Campus at that time. The Board gave clever skits illustrating the sports open to freshmen and told them about the Board which is the governing body of the Association. An open house was held for the freshmen on East and West in October, and carly in November N.A.A. gave a "Meet the Co-ed Dance" with music provided by the Duke Ambassadors. Everyone went stag to both of these affairs.

On February 12, (ireensboro was the seene of a W.A.A. convention for the purpose of organizing and reporting on the various state activities of the Athletic Pederation of College Women. This convention sent a delegate to the National Consention which met at the University of Wisconsin.

Kite Day, sponsored by W.A.A., is an event anticipated by all, and the date is kept secret until the morning of the appointed day. Then all aspiring "kite-Hyers" gather on the quadrangle, and the dorm with the best-looking and best-flying kite receives a prize. The kites are usually made by a committec of freshmen in cach dormitory.

Wach year Nercidian sponsors an aquacade in the gymnasium which is always an important and beautiful event. Nercidian also sponsored the annual intramural swimming meet. The Modern Danee Club, a popular M.A.A. group, also presents a dance recital. Members compose the dances, and the recital is given in coöperation with the music deparment, the speech department, and the art department. Another important group of the W.A.A. is the Speed Club which participates in the National Telegraphic Swimming Meet every year. Among the tournaments sponsored by W.A.A. are the following: temnis tournaments, interdorm and inter-sorority volleyball and basketball tournaments, inter-dorm swimming and bowling meets, and various competitive meets in archery, badminton, bowling, and golf, ineluding National Telegraphic Mcets in arehery and bowling.

The Woman's Athletic Association plans a program of well-rounded recreational sports. With a well organized Association and the best in equipment available for use, the W.A.A. Board has realized broad developments in this field.

SANTA Filomiena, Duke School of Nursing Honorary Society, has for its goals the betterment of interclass relationships and the promotion of higher nursing standards. To be tapped to Santa Filomena is the highest honor awarded to student nurses.

The candidates for membership must show recognized qualities of leadership, demonstrate superior nursing ability, and must have maintained a high scholastic record. The candidates are chosen from the rising Senior Class and remain secret until a public candlelight ceremony when the members "tap" the candidates by pinning a small white satin bow on their uniforms and presenting them with a small Nightingale lamp. Members may wear a small pin, the only jewelry which adorns a student's uniform. It is a proud and thrilling moment when this tiny emblem of the highest ideals in nursing is given to a nurse.

INACTIVE during the war, Alpha Kappa Psi was reinstalled in the Spring of $19+8$ at an initiation ceremony led by Richard A. lills, Grand President; and Julius M. Lemard, Jr., District Councilor.

The fraternity was founded in 190t, in the School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance at New York University. Since that time, sixty-five chapters have been installed in the leading universities throughout the country. There are also alumni chapters in all the larger citics.

The Beta Eta chapter was organized at Duke in 1929. Pursuants of a degree in Business Administration, who have shown ability in the field and have proved the right to recognition through business activities on campus are cligible for membership.

Alpha Kappa Psi aims to further the individual welfare of its members; to foster seientific research in the fields of commeree, accounts, and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals; and to promote and advance in institutions of college rank, courses leading to degrees in business administration.

Speakers on economies, business, and other educational subjects are present at their meetings. They also have varied activities such as industrial tours, research projects, smokers, banquets, and dances.

In the middle of October, Robert French was sent as a delegate to the Southeastern District Convention at the University of Florida.

The Diary of Alpha Kappa Psi is an official periodical devoted to fraternity, commerce, and other college interests. This magazine contains many educational articles concerning current business problems written by both active and alumni members.

The officers of this national business fraternity for the last year were: Neil C. Taylor, president; Emmett F. Short, vice-president; IV. Carl Murphy, secretary; Alwyn L. Featherstone, treasurer, and Professor John 1 . Shields, Deputy Councilor.

$P_{1}$1 IOTA, the Duke chapter of the National I Ionorary Mechanical Engineering Fraternity, Pi Tau Sigma, was organized under the Leadership of Assistant Professor William A. Hinton. The local charter was officially granted on May 13, 194+, the original membership being composed entirely of Nary men. The success of the chapter during the war years was due to the untiring efforts of Professor Ralph $S$. Willour, a charter honorary member, who has helped the chapter fulfill the objeets of the organzation: to foster the high ideals of the enginecring profession, to stimulate interest in coobrdinate departmental activities, and to promote the mutual professional welfare of its members.

This year at the National Convention, which was held at the University of W'isconsin, the Duke chapter was represented by Jack Frecze, a member of the National Committee on Expansion.

Entrance into Pi Tau Sigma is based upon scholarship, but the final selection rests on the character, citizenship, personality, and professional interest of the candidate. Tapping was done during the fall semester at the Engineers' Ball by the mames of the candidates on a giant replica of the Pi Tau Sigma key. After the tapping, the candidates were required to take the National entrance examination as well as construct and wear for one week a wooden, hand-made, Pi Tau Sigma key approvimately eight inches tall. Formal initiation was held on December 7, 1948, followed by a banquet in the Union.

The Duke Chapter of Pi Tau Sigma, with its membership consisting of top students in mechanical engincering and with its strong professional interest and determination of its members, attempts to promote the high ideals of Duke University.

ORTH CAROLINA Gamma Chapter of Tau Beta Pi finishes its first full year on the Duke campus. Instituted here in January, 1947, the local chapter was the culmination of ten years of planning and work by leaders of the College of Engincering.

Founded at Lehigh University in 1885, Tau Beta Pi was organized to "mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engincering."

This chaperer was formed by members of Delta Epsilon Sigma, a local honorary engincering society formed in 1930 to petition the Tau Beta Pi Association.

In January, 1947, DES president E. H. Gautier and counselor Otto Meicr, Jr., presented the case of Duke at a mational conrention and the chapter was manimously granted a charter.

Charter members included many past presidents and the current members of DES. Three student elections have been held since that date, and by last fall, the number of undergraduate members was twenty-six. Last fall three more alumin were elected, including Edwin L. Jones, Frederick R. Jackson, Jr., and Blake W. Van Leer.

Tau Beta Pi took an active interest in the affairs of the College of Enginecring. Plans for the year included the recognition of outstanding enginecring freshmen. The chapter also proposed to sponsor a student poll for the rating of members of the enginecring faculty.

POTENTIAL LEADERS ON WEST

Beta onegia slgina ranks among the outstanding student organizations at Duke University. The officers of BOS for this year are Donald S. Huber, president; John Blackburn, vice-president; Dan Blaylock, secretary; and Robert Shackelford, treasurer. Dean Alan K. Manchester is the adviser.

Any freshman who has carned a minimum of twenty-four activity points and who has displayed leadership, school spirit, service, and character is cligible for membership. These activity points are based on the importance of the student activity, the length of service in this activity and the amount of leadership required to successfully complete the work. Emphasis is placed on scholarship as well as service and teadership. The main purpose of Beta Omega Sigma is to foster wholesome student participation in campus activitics, as well as to develop school spirit and traditions at Duke.

This year BOS in coöperation with the Sandals presented the Amual Ball of $19+8$. The two organizations also planned Homecoming Day, assisting with the alumni barbecue luncheon and conducting the Homecoming decoration contests both in Durham and on the campuses. Printing several hundred sheets of cheers and songs, BOS was in charge of all pep rallies and the Carolina game bonfire. The colorful half-time card tricks at football games were planned, organized, and executed under the leadership of this sophomore honorary.

The twenty-four members of BOS finished their activities of the year in the initiation of twenty new freshman on February fiftenth.

TiHIEREV be some extra work to do if Sandals went away."

Last spring, twenty brand new, enthusiastic Sandals sang a parody to the tunc Manama and jestingly added the line above. A few months later those same twenty girls decided that there was a lot of truth in that line. They, howerer, enjoyed working for Duke, and looked around for more jobs to do.

These Sandals had even greater ideas when they arrived at Duke this last fall. However, Freshman Week was the first scheduled event, and twenty girls were never more tired at the end of each day, or more glad that they had had the first chance to meet the freshmen and transfers. Twenty girls never worked harder at meeting and directing freshmen to the dormitories, proctoring and grading placement tests, mixing frosh men and women at the open houses and serving at the " Y " freshman exchange dimner.

After classes had been progressing for several weeks, the Sandals and their male counterparts, the BOS, began work on the first formal dance of the year. Decorations complied with the theme: "Sandals and Bow Ties."

Members of Sandals soon decided that they would cease official relations with BOS; the girls invited them to an informal get-acepainted party in the Ark. The two organizations found this meeting helpful around the first of the second semester when teamwork in producing the sing was important. "East Meets West" with obvious comotations was sung, acted, and danced to with a variety of talent that makes a sing worth secing. "Buttons and Bows" with Duke's own words bound together the idea that Eastern girls and Western boys finally decided that cosmopolitan life was too attractive to forget.

A Sandal doesn't just happen. A freshman must have a "C" average her first semester, and must be recommended from her activities during her first year. Officers for 1948-49 are as follows: President, Dot Golden; Vice-President, Norma Feaster; Sceretary, Jane Schrider; Treasurer, Perky Camm.

FOR SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT

1 O IIELP TIIE faltering freshman-this has beco the mote-worthy am of Phi Dita Sigma during the past year. The Fraternity, which was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, was first established at Duke in 1931. The group worked hand in hand with the Freshman Advisory Council to aid freshmen who were having difficulty in studying and in making grades. Whenever a freshman received very low or failing grades in a subject, be was reported to the Freshman Advisory Council. The F.A.C. submitted his name to Phi lita Sigma and the freshman promptly received the tutoring necessary to improve his work.

Membership in Phi Dta Sigma is open to hose freshmen who mantain a scholastic average of 2.25 for their first semester or a record of 2.5 for the entire freshman year.

Originally the pledge became an active member at the end of the first semester of his sophomore year; however, last year, Phi Eta Sigma initiated all eligible men in the fall. This move placed more members in an active capacity, enabling the fraternity to be of more assistance to the freshmen.

The officers, under the capable leadership of Jack Stringer, were vice-president, Tom Morgan; secretary, Jack Blackburn; and treasurer, Dick Paulson. Dean Manchester was the fraternity's able adviser.

Organizations such as this one have played a large part in helping the freshman adapt himself to college life. Phi Eta Sigma has proved a leader among these organzations in the past and will continue its invaluable service in the future.

TisHE FRESIIMAN honorary socicty, Iry, was founded by the first year women on East campus in 1937, for the purpose of promoting higher planes of scholarship and stimulating intellectual interests as well as encouraging the development of a well-rounded personality: lvy gave its ambal entertainment for all freshmen women having a " $B$ " average at midsemester in December, and held a gathering in their honor again in the spring. The members of lvy also marshaled at the lectures sponsored by the Student Forum, at the Modern Dance recital this spring, and at the Nereidian Club's water pageant.

The membership requirement for lyy is an average of 2.25 quality points for each semester hour carricd or 2.5 for the entire year. Iry

AU PSI OMIEGA celebrated its 10 th anniversary in 1948 . It was founded in 1938 as the result of the concerted action of M. and Mme. Neal Dow and a group of students who were interested in furthering the study of the French language, the country, the customs, and the people. Duke University, then, is the birthplace of the Alpha chapter.

Membership in the fraternity affords an excellent opportunity to hear and to speak the language. To become a member, therefore, one must have the ability to speak the language, as well as a " $B$ " average for one year of college French or the equivalent. Membership is not restricted to French majors or to students currently enrolled in French classes, but to those having the basic qualifications of scholarship and a real interest in the dynamic study des choses fromoris. Initiations are held twice a year.

At the bi-monthly meetings, some of which are open houses held for those interested in and qualified for membership, the programs feature short French plays or skits, speakers, movies, and French songs. The fraternity has acquired during the past year a set of French records which should further improvement in French pronunciation.

Tau Psi Omega, usually presents a three-act play during the school year. The last one, Les Jours Heureux, which stimulated interest in the French classes here and at Chapel Hill, was judged highly successful.

The officers of the fraternity are Roger Upchurch, president; Pauline Ligon, vice-president; Mary Wimberly, secretary; John Lau, treasurer; and Carolyn Morse, historian.

IGMA DELTA PI, national Spanish honorary fraternity, was founded in 1919 at the University of California, in Berkeley. The organization has constantly expanded until now there are fifty chapters, in every section of the United States. The Dukc chapter; Alpha Theta, was chartered in 1936 to uphold the fraternity's three-fold aim: to cause a wider knowledge of and a greater love for the Hispanic contributions to modern culture; to foster friendly relations and a coöperative spirit between the nations of Hispanic and English speech; and to reward those who show special attainments and interests in such a ficld of study.

The membership requirements include a " $B$ " average through the third year of college Spanish, as well as an over-all scholastic average of 1.5 quality points per semester hour. In addition to the active members, those students with an enthusiastic interest in Hispanic culture may be elected as affiliate members.

The year's activities consisted of open houses, an initiation banquet, a spring festival, and an average of one meeting each month. The officers for the year were Bill Swanson, president; Betty Bob Walters, vice-president; Nyle Brug, secretary; Joe Correll, treasurer, and Professor Juan R. Castellano, Faculty Sponsor.

THE SHAMROCK AND THE SLIDE RULE

THE ORIDER OF ST. PATRICK, a local honorary engincering leadership society, was first organized on the campus of Duke University in June, $19+5$, primarily through the efforts of Blake VanLeer and the Engineering Student Govermment. Patterned after organizations of a similar mature in other enginecring eolleges throughout the mation, the Order immediately achieved preceninence among the various societies in the College of Engincering. Organized as a service organzation, the Order has excelled in this field.

Members are chosen from the junior and senior classes of the College of Engineering on the basis of their contributions to the College of Eneinecring as well as for their leadership abilitics. Once knighted to the Order the student is encouraged to cultivate his leadership abilities to further the interests of the College. Membership is not merely a formality of recognition but is a plan which opens the door to greater achievement.

On September 13th, the Order sponsored an open house for the freshman enginecring elass. The program for the evening included a movie, "Progress through Engincering," a few words of encouragement and advice from Dean Hall, and a rather extensive tour of the building. A pamphlet, Engineering as a Career, was presented to each freshman, compliments of the Order of St. Patrick.

HE ZETA CHAPTER of Kappa Chi Fraternity was formed at Duke in 19+3. Its membership is composed of undergraduate students who are preparing themselves for the Christian ministry.

The purpose of Kappa Chi is "to provide and promote a medium for the realization of truc fraternity in order that its members may mutually share worship, fellowship, and service based on the high ideals of Jesus Christ." In order that this purpose may be accomplished, regular mectings are held each Monday evening in the York Chapel of the Divinity School, and morning watch services on Wednesday mornings. Social functions are held twice a semester.

Various service projects are undertaken during the school year. Members help conduct Thursday evening vesper services, and participate in the collection of the offering in Duke Chapel.

Two members of the local group have served as officers of the national fraternity. Dave Swain served as president during 19+7-48, and Bob Byrd as vice-president during $19+8-49$.

This year's activities have been under the direction of Bob Byrd, president; Clark Cahow vice-president; John Christy, secretary; and Clint Harris, treasurer. Dr. Waldo Beach, a member of the Divinity School faculty, has served as adviser.

Twenty new members were added to the group during the first semester after completing the ninc-reek pledge period. This brought the total membership to approximately 50.

CHI DELTA PHI, honorary literary fraternity for women, was founded at the University of Tennessee in 1919. The Zeta chapter at Duke University was established in 1922. The purpose of this organization is to promote greater interest in literature and creative writing by bringing the aspiring young authors together in a friendly group to help each other with phases of their work. Members of Chi Delta Phi contribute material to the Archize, college literary magazine and other Duke publications.

Chi Delta Phi sponsors an annual prose and poctry contest for members of East Campus to encourage student effort in creative writing. The members judge the works submitted themselves, thus receiving practice in the criticism and the selection of literary works. This society sponsors lectures and readings for people interested in the field of letters. Among this year's speakers were Dr. William Blackburn, Mrs. Maric Amne White and Dr. Napolcone Orsini.

Marcia Norcross, president, was awarded a two weeks scholarship last summer to the University of Colorado, after competing in a national creative writing contest. Gillian Fothergill, class of $19+8$, has achieved success in the literary world as finalist in the Vogue Prix de Paris contest. This honor led to a position as a J'ogue staff member.

Upperclassmen are cligible for Chi Delta Phi after showing superior work in literary composition.

Officers for 19+8-1949 are Marcia Norcross, president; Gene Richardson, rice-president; Virginia Jones, secretary; and Mary Hendricks. treasurer. This year the adviser who aided the girls in their work was Miss Margaret Church.

SAGES OF THE STAGE

THETA ALPHA PHI, national honorary dramatic society, was founded at the University of Chicago in 1919, and the Duke Alpha chapter, the only one in North Carolina, was established in 1925.

This organization endeavors to foster student interest in all branches of theater art. The entire country recognizes this national institution as a possible preliminary step to success in dramatics, as many contemporary celebritics of the stage are members of Theta Alpha Phi.

Invitation to membership is based on meritorious work in two major or four minor roles, or equivalent work in business, makeup, and direction. Members nay gain individual knowledge by helping to direct one-act plays for the Duke Players.

This year Theta Alpha Phi has encouraged cooperation among the three dramatic organiza-tions-Duke Players, Hoof and Ilorn Club, and French Plays, and has worked for the eventual revival of operettas at Duke University.

A worthwhile achievement of Theta Alpha Phi is the sponsorship of speakers. Mr. Samuel Selden of the Carolina Playmakers at Chapel 1 lill, Joseph Weatherby, professor of speech; Mrs. Marie Anne White, and Mrs. A. T West have been of great assistance to this group. Mrs. West is the wife of the late founder of Duke Players, and the original adviser of Theta Alpha Phi.

This year the faculty adviser was Mr. Kenneth Reardon. Officers were Francis Milton Hunt, president; Marion Duncan, vice-president; Alda I Heykoop, secretary; Dave Polinger, treasurer; and Henry McLeod, historian.

TOPS IN COEFFICIENTS AND SQUARE ROOTS

PI MU EPSILON, the mational homorary mathematics fraternity was founded at Syracuse University in 1914. Wighteen years later, North Carolina Alpha, the first chapter to be founded in North Carolina, was installed at Duke University.

The purpose of Pi Mu Epsiton is to promote mathematical scholarship among students in acalemic institutions of university grade by decting members according to their mathematical and over-all proficioncy. To be eligible for membership in this organization a student most have completed mathematics courses through integral calculas with an average of " $B$ " or better, and also must have a " $B$ " arerage in all other courses that have been taken.

A gold key, containing the Greck letters for Pi Mu Pepsilon, distinguishes its wearer as a member of this mational honorary mathematics fraternity.

One formal meeting per semester is held for the primary purpose of the initiation of new members, and is followed by a lecture on the practical applications of mathematics and a visit to Mr. W. W. Rankin's Mathematies laboratory; this mecting is climaxed by a social. Other meetings are held frequently throughout the semester. An amual banquet is held during the spring semester in homor of all the members initiated throughout the year.

The faculty adviser of this chapter is Dr. H. H. Ellintt of the mathematics department. The student officers are: Norman R. Starks, president; Mary Jane Smith, vice-president; Nancy Bloom, secretary; and Lewis C. Doggett, treasurer.

CHECK YOUR MIND, SIR?

FoA OUNDED only a year ago last October, Mu Sigma, the psychology society, has continued to provide for the presentation and the discussion of psychological problems most appropriate to the general interest of undergraduates. By activating and encouraging creative thinking, the organization aims to promote a better understanding of psychology and to provide a basis for further study. Last fall they started the year out by having an open meeting for all psychology majors. Dr. J. B. Rhine lectured on hypnosis and also gave a demonstration. Other programs throughout the year were lectures by Duke and U.N.C. psychology professors, round table discussions, and some intercsting talks by Duke Hospital psychiatrists.
The organization, under the supervision of Dr. Reichenburg, Dr. MacHugh, and graduate William Cannon is open to all undergraduates with a "C" average who have completed three hours of work in the introductory psychology course. The membership consists of two orders: Fellowship (maximum of twenty-five members) which is elected by the associates as the working unit, and the unlimited associate membership.

Last spring the society was honored by the invitation to install a branch organization at the Richmond Professional Institute. The group hopes to organize other chapters in order to be able to share ideas as well as to stimulate more interest in psychology.

LETTERMEN FROM ALL SPORTS

TIII VARSITY "D" CLUB is an organization for all men who have won a letter in a major or minor sport at Duke. The club, under the faculty supervision of Mr. Dan I Hill and Mr. II. M. Lewis, and under the student direction of John Ellsworth, president; Johnny Reese, vice-president; Lou McMasters, secretary; and Don Dunham, treasurcr, has earricd out many projects. Selecting co-ed sponsors for the Southern Conference Intereollegiate Basketball 'Iournament, participating in the activities of the Big Four Athletic Council, and handling the annual Duke-Durham Invitational Basketball Tournament were some of the group's activities. Members of the elub have also worked through the F.A.C. in advising freshmen who are here on athletic scholarships.

Onc of the club's most important social plans for the year was the sponsoring of the homecoming dance for the alumn and members of the club, and for the staff and members of the Gcorgia Tich team.

ATHLETIC LEADERS ON EAST

ORGANIZED in 1921, Delta Phi Rho Alpha encourages school spirit, class sportsmanship, leadership, and interest in campus athleties. A purely honorary organization, Delta Phi Rho Alpha recognizes those girls who are outstanding in athletics. Each year, the athletic society presents a cup to the sorority that wins the basketball tournament. Exery commencement, the sorority awards a key to the senior who has been outstanding in the qualities which are the aim of the organization.

New members are determined from the athletic activity points kept by the W.A.A. Board; seven sophomores and two juniors are selected each year. On Initiation Day, the new members are easily spotted by their traditional costume, consisting of heary black stockings, one white and black shoe, a middy blouse, and a short black skirt. Each girl is also required to carry a rolling pin, a paddle, a bucket, and other articles with the Greek letters of the sorority on them.

Lymi Weith headed Delta Phi Rho Alpha this year. Jo Dawes served as secretary, and Gene Eichnan, treasurer. The members for 1948-49 were: I lappy Allen, Marilyn Bailey, Joey Bird, Mary Brinkman, Jane Chivers, Jo Dawes, Sally Dodson, Gene Eichman, Doris Fcrguson, Lois Hobbs, Liz Hoff, Sue Laseley, Peggy Merrill, Fay Reifsnyder, Nancy Schmidt, Mary Jane Smith, Lynn Weith, and Shirley Zittrouer.

LINKED with Duke's tradition of freedom is the proud record of Men's Student Government Association, representing all men. For example, the judicial committee, ruling on student discipline, has had in the past three years only four decisions modified by the administration. In Duke's first really post-war year, M.S.G.A. revived freshman traditions and scored touchdowns on the problems of telephones and parking lots. Leading this year's pioncering efforts, which included a constitutional convention, were Bob Welch as prexy; Al Sharpe, vice-president; Norman Forrest, secretary; and Fenton Guinee, treasurer.

GUIDING HAND ON EAST

We Believe life at Duke to be based on the principles of honor, responsibility, and cooperation.

With these thoughts in mind the Women's Student Govermment Association has developed many new ideas and strengthened old ones during the past year.

The most important single aetivity has been the promotion of the I lonor Code to cover all phases of student life. Other projeets include revising the penalty system, sponsoring a Govermment Forum, organizing the Campus Chest Fund, altering the election system, and cooperating with the Men's Student (iovernment Association in the organization of a stecring board for all campus organizations.

& O MATTER how trying a freshman's problems may seem he knows that he can depend on his FAC adviser for valuable help in solving them.

The purpose of the Freshman Advisory Council is to help each freshman fed at home on campus and build a firm foundation for his college work. This objective is carried out by 102 advisers, each assisting six freshmen in their scholastic and extra-curricular work, social life, and adjustment to rules and traditions.

Coordinating the work of the advisers is the executive council, composed of fifteen house captains with (icorge Parkerson serving as president; Will Jackson as vice-president; and Dick Best as secretary-treasurer.

(icorge Parkerson, President

Dolly Brim, President

Ereader) By Dolly Brim, the Women's Freshman Advisory Comed successfully carried out an active program this year. The group, organized in 1931, gives individual assistance to freshman girls during orientation week and throughout the year. The advisers help each girl make those scholastic and social adjustments which will provide for a protitable college career.

One adviser usually guides eight freshmen; therefore, each newcomer receives individual attention and knows she may discuss her problems with an interested upperclassman. Members of this advisory group are appointed by the Dean of Freshmen on a selective basis.

1 HIS PAST year, the Sophomore and Freshman " Y " Cabincts have coöperated with the Senior Cabinet to carry out the "Y"s" social and religious campus functions. Members of both cabinets were handpicked by the executive YMCA committee.

The Freshman Cabinet is especially valuable because it is here that the fifteen members of this eabinet receive the training for their four years in the "Y." In addition, the Freshman Cabinet sponsored a ping-pong tournament and some educational movies for the entertainment of the students, and, for educational purposes, sponsored religious discussions in the freshman dormitories during the week prior to Religious Emphasis Week. Also, not to be forgotten is the fact that it was this group that decorated the Union lobby just before Christmas holidays.

THE ORGANIZATION which provides an intramural program on East Campus and promotes good sportmanship is the Women's Athletic Association. It is supported by the entire student body, and all the students of the Woman's College are eligible for membership and participation in its program, which includes hockey, volleyball, swimming, tennis, archery, golf, softball, and a number of other sports.

The association holds Saturday might open houses and has sponsored this year a "Meet the Co-Ed" dance, a modern dance exhibition, and swimming and horseback riding pageants by members of the Nereidian Club and Pegasus. A II.A.A. pienic was part of the Freshman Weck progrann.

The Women's Athletic Association has done much toward bringing the student body and faculty closer together.

DEMONSTRATING EASY GRACE AND RHYTHM

IN ORDER to give co-eds at Duke an opportunity to develop their dancing ability and to use their ercative talents, the Modern Dance Club was founded in $193+$ by Miss Modena Lewis.

Tryouts are held every semester for girls who wish to participate in the activities of the group. Each year it presents a dance recital. Its members also participate in the "Hoof ' $n$ ' Horn" productions and the West Campus Arts Forum. The group has performed for East Carolina Teachers' College and has given lecture demonstrations at local civic clubs.

Serving as officers this year were Jo Reynolds president; Eugenic Eichman, vice-president; Carolyn Callihan, scerctary; Jo Hendricks, treasurer; and Miss Modina Lewis, adviser.

Miss Lewis and Jo Reymolds directed the Modern Dance (lub's ammal recital on March 3, in the Woman's College Auditorium. The chicf composition of the recital was a dramatic number entitled "The Web." This number is the first made up of dance sequences, instead of a program of unrelated, individualized dances. Jocelyn Bird danced the solo part accompanicd by a varicty of musical and poctical backgrounds.

Eugenie Eichman executed a solo dance to the poem, "Go Down, Death," while Jo Reynolds also had an origimal role, dancing to original music. The Nadrigal Singers collaborated with the entire dance group to present several choral numbers varying from folk dances to those of a religious mature.

THE "SADDLE CLUB'"

FCOR THOSE interested in improving their riding and learning more about horsemanship, Pcgasus is the organization. The essentials of cexhibitionary horscmanship, the control and care of horses, as well as an incomparable opportunity to pursue a worthwhile hobby are the interests of the members of Pegasus.

Members are chosen by try-outs, which include walking, trotting, and cantering; a good position on horseback is the most important quality.

The annual horse show and riding exhibition are the big events of the year. During the show, the co-ed-equestrians skillfully executed military drill and a square dance. This drill, requiring a great deal of practice on the part of the members, was performed before an audience of newsmen, local horsemen, families, and students. The exhibition included intermediate and advanced elass jumping contests. Wednesday afternoon rides through Duke Forest marked the activities of the first semester. Supper rides, moonlight rides, and paper chases were also in the plans of the president, Mary Claire Iney. Miss Webster was the adviser.

. . . AQUATIC FORM AND BEAUTY

SSINCE IT was organized in 1938 in order to provide an opportunity for those interested in swimming to develop and to display their skills, the Nereidian Club has done much to further interest in the aquatic sports on East Campus.

Large crowds of students, faculty, and townspeople were on hand for their big project of this year, the annual water pageant, which was held for three days in the spring. With umusual costuming and scenery, this show featured formation swimming and exhibition diving by members of the club.

Membership in Nereidian is based on tryouts held in the spring and the fall of the year. Good form in strokes, diving, and underwater swimming is emphasized, and the proficieney of all entrants is judged on the point system. Girls who try out must have eompleted their Senior Life-Saving course.

The officers this year were: June Gilenn, president; Helen Neumeister, vice-president; Marjoric Tyler, secretary; and lane Fuchs, treasurer. Miss Frances Holton served as faculty adviser.

MODERN MEDICINE MEN

TIIE PRE-MIEDICAL SOCIETY is an organization that has served the many hundred students who plan to expand their carcer and enter the field of medicine. By working with the men of the Medical School, it has promoted an interest and knowledge of the medical profession by explaining the many fields and therefore aiding the students in the selection of a specific branch of the profession.

Since 1937, when the society was organized, it has caused many young men and women to become aware of the responsibility that will be theirs. Besides the many interesting speakers there were various programs designed to promote the society's objective.

DUKE'S LEGAL EAGLES

THE ATTORNEY for the defense rises to face the jury. Behind the effective presentation of his client's case lie long hours of research.

Washington? Ralcigh? Durham? No, the Duke campus is the setting for Bench and Bar's mock trials, stimulating the thinking and interest of pre-legal undergraduates. Through these trials each member has a chance to take his part in the drama of the courtroom, as well as gaining experience in the technique of preparing and presenting a case. The trials are part of Bench and Bar's activities to develop among pre-legal students an ever-inereasing sense of the responsibilities of all members of the legal profession.

Through eleven years of enthusiastic activity, Bench and Bar has become the center of undergraduate legal thought. Chartered in 1938, the organization has grown rapidly in size and importance. Leaders this year were Clyde Propst, president; Leonard Lloyd, vicepresident; John D. Shaw, secretary; and Fred Henry, treasurer.

Distinguished speakers addressed the future lawyers on pre-legal curriculum and various aspects of specialized legal practice. The social side was not ignored, either. The annual banquet in the spring climaxed the year's activity.

The Hoof 'n' Horn Club was founded in 1936 on the Order of Harvard's H lasty Pudding Club and Princeton's Triangle Club to produce original musical comedies for the student body. The first years of the war were a period of dormancy because of lack of resources, but in 19+2 it was revived in spite of the numerous difficulties brought on by the Navy Program at Duke. The organization really came into its own immediately after the war, giving many fine shows filled with the student musical and dramatic talent. Besides distinguishing itself as the first organization of its kind in the South, the Hoof 'n' Horn Club has casily become one of the formost in the country.

In the Ark a Hoof 'n' Horn chorus lme, composed of eight lovely co-eds, practices a dance which was included in the show this spring.

All students at Duke who are interested in helping to produce a successful musical comedy may belong to the club and help in the production of the plays. Not only are those people talented in music, dramatics, and dancing encouraged to join, but also others interested in work on the business staff and in the stage management of the performances.
"Lovintime" was presented March 17 and 18 under the direction of Bill Whaten, director and dancing star of "Nuthin' Like lt." Its success was made possible only by the hard work of all chub members and especially of Dick Landis, president; Bill Whaken, director; Art Secuer, seript writer; and the other committees headed by $\mathfrak{F}$. M. I funt, technical director; Bill Ward, business manager; and Al "Lushwell" Sugarman, assistant director.

The audience will not soon forget the fine quality of the entire production of "Lovintime," Hoof 'n' Horn's history of "love in bloom through the ages." Fspecially remembered was the "lush," technically perfeet Roman scene, the battle of Roman wits over the fair Cleopatra. In lighting, dancing, script, music, and the "fire-fly" special effects I loof 'n' I torn did it again with "Loxintime."

The east of "Nuthon Like lt" wase them arms galy at the finale. The stars, Peg Forchand and Boll Whalen and the cast were rewarded for their work, it was so popular extra performances were demanded. I he songs, dances, and the soript were created by talented stuktents.

Joln loves Mary. John wanted to marry Mary. But there was trouble ahead. Figuring significantly among his problems was the wife he had already acquired. She was to lead to difficulties that were to take a long, long time to remedy.

Enthusiastic Page Auditorium audiences roared through the three acts of the Duke Player's fall production of John Loves Mary, before secing the problem untangled. The comedy began when Mary, played by Francine Pieree, went into a clinch with John (Fred Wagner) who had just returned from three years service overseas with the army. There were dark clouds hanging over this state of bliss, too, because John had obligingly married a young English girl, with whon his buddy had been deeply in love. He had done this simply to enable the girl to come to America, obtain a quick divorce, and marry Fred, John's crony.

This carcfully formulated scheme was wrecked when Fred, in a mischicvous moment, marricd still another woman. Before the problem was solved in the last act, a senator, an Army general, and Mary's wisecracking mother, had had a hand in muddling the picture. The confusion carried through until John, no longer able to hide the facts, confessed and made a bold front of his predicament. Mary gave him the much needed sympathy and the curtain fell on another clinch amid wild applause.

This play was only typical of the caliber of entertament provided by the Players during the year. Later, comedy gave way to serious drama, when Shadow and Substamce was produced. The Spring presentation of George

The Duke Players, founded in 1931 by A. T West, was created to supply an outlet for those students on the campus interested in dramatics and to provide a new kind of entertamment for the Duke campus. The first of these objectives is fulfilled by an organization which encompasses every phase of stagecraft. There are committees for props, costumes, stage crew, lighting, and the business staff. The suceess of the second obiective, entertamment, is shown by a ereditable attendance record. By virtue of this, the elub is supported entirely by ticket receipts.

. . . THE MEDIUM BETWEEN STUDENTS AND FACULTY

I
HE STUDENT Coördinate Board, an auxiliary of the Woman's Student Government Association, was established in $19+5$ to act as an intermediary between the students and the administration. The Board is a progressive organization with few limitations to its range of activities, and acts on all suggestions received for the improvement of existing conditions on campus.

Under the leadership of Betty Bob Walters, the fourteen Board members accomplished numerous ehanges this year. These reforms ranged from the organizing of the University Stecring Committee to the reorganizations of weak courses. By improving the service in the Dope Shop and arranging to have the shop open on Sundays, the Board secured its excellent campus-wide reputation. An investigation of the delay in completion of the long-awaited Duchess Room, as well as an attempt to have Bendix washers installed on campus, was conducted by the Board. A poll of one hundred colleges was taken in order to learn how other students handle problems similar to those that arise on East Campus.

Much of the Board's work receives little or no publicity. Securing interesting assembly speakers, helping freshmen register in the fall, and preparing reading lists for English courses so that students may secure their texts in advance are a few of the unheralded tasks of this active group.

The chairman of the Student Coördinate Board is a permanent member of the Curriculum Committee, so that student wishes may be voiced and faculty opinions understood. Oceasionally, the advocated changes can not be instituted, and the Board then explains the reasons for existing situations to the students.

Officers for 1948-49 were Betty Bob Walters, Chairman; Jan Camphausen, secretary.

THE CHURCH of Duke University is unique in that it has been a chureh with no members, for only in the past year has the church received regular members. The chureh has an affiliate membership of thousands and a small regular membership from among members of the administration. Its government is exceuted by a board of forty-eight members chosen equally from among the administration and faculty and the student body.

The ehureh board includes the preachers to the University, Drs. Clelland, Bosley, and Hickman; the coördinators of religious activities, Dr. Phillips and Miss Sampley; and its chairman Dean Robert Cox. Among the students, cight are chosen at large and sixteen from the student religious council of the exceutive officers of the denominational groups. The board is organized into committees for its activities.

The 1,500-1,800 students who filled the chapel on Sunday morning heard, in addition to the University preachers, such religious leaders as Reinhold Neibuhr; Robert McCracken; and Ralph Sockman. The fine mixed choir of 200 voices under J. Foster Barnes and the Gothic beauty of the ehapel were a part of each student's life which he will never forget.

FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS

In a silteping atempt to revialize the spirit and organization of engineering students, a drastic transformation was made in the longinactive Engincer's Club including the adoption of a radically new constitution.

Paramount among the provisions of the constitution is the formation of an Engineers Student Council to coordinate the activities of the college of Engincering. The council is composed of officers of each organization in the college.

The new constitution encourages scholastic and social activity. Among this year's crents, we find the enginecrs winning a trophy for honncoming decorations, placing intramural teams, sponsoring a Sunday night sing and an Engincers Show, giving an elaborately-decorated Engineers Ball each semester, and picking a Slide-Rule Queen.

The engincers have coördinated their offorts to lead the campus in school spirit by building the only float at the Duke-Nayy game, leading pep rallies with flaming batons and torches, and wearing characteristic hats. By this strong bid to bring spirit to a new level, membership in the club has increased to an all time record. Through this coördination, every organization in the College of Enginecring has been made more effective, and the DukEngineer has increased its student circulation over 100 per cent.

SHOOTING A MARK

THE AMERICAN Socicty of Civil Engineers is the leading national organization of professional civil engineers, and maintains chapters throughout the country. In addition to its regular sections, the Society has student chapters at kading colleges and universities. The main purposes of the Duke chapter are to interest the student in extra-classroom engineering, and at the same time, to interest them in each other socially.

Judging by the membership (99 per eent of all C. E. students) the chapter has been eminently successful in accomplishing these goals. This year the club has sponsored four field trips to engincering projects in and about the state, including the Bugg's Island Dam project and the Carolina Stecl and Iron Works in Greensboro. In addition, we have enjoyed an outstanding program of professional and student speakers at the regular meetings, who presented such topics as Highway Engineering, Earth Dan Construction, and Engineering in Contracting. Something new has been added this year, too a semiannual social "bust" that has done much to rejurenate that "Engineers" Spirit" you've been hearing about.

In large measure the fine success of the Society this year has been due to the efforts of its retiring officers, who are: Ed Larner, President; Pd Torgerson, Vice-President; Cine Chesson, Secretary-Treasurer.

The new officers and members of the Society hope to improve on tine fine record of these men, and to make next year's club one that no C. E. student can afford to miss.

THE DUKE University Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers not only presents facilities to its members for kecping abreast of current developments in the field of electrical enginecring, but also affords opportunities for its members to develop any latent abilities in their chosen profession. Established in 1927 by Professor W. J. Seeley of the College of Engineering, the local branch is now under the able guidance of Professor Otto Meier, Jr., counsclor.

The activities of the Duke Branch are not restricted to local meetings. Joint mectings are held each semester with the branch from North Carolina State College, and students are always welcome guests at the meetings of the North Carolina Section of the A.I.E.E. These latter meetings do much to foster the friendship existing between practicing engineers and students.

The main event of the recent year occurred this spring when a strong delegation attended the annual Southern District Conference of Student Branches held at Louisana State University.

The social activities of the Branch are sparked annually by a "lab" party where co-cds, et al, can discover for themselves what live-wires these EE's are!

THEY BUILD A BETTER MOUSETRAP

THE DUKE Student Branch of the American Socicty of Mechanical Engineers is accomplishing its purpose of advancing the standards of engineering by fostering engineering education, encouraging original rescarch, and broadening the uscfulness of the engineering profession with an encrgetic student participation.

The A.S.M.E. worked with the other engineering organizations on the homecoming decorations, Engineers' Ball, Engineers' Sing, and the Engineers' Show, encouraging and working with the rising engincering spirit. The social activity of this organization include an annual Prof Roast, and the annual baseball game of the A.S.M.E. vs Engineering faculty. Trips were made to Rocky Mount and to $W$ inston-Salem for inspection of the Atlantic Coast Railroad Maintenance Shops, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Plant.

Speakers were brought in from industry to discuss the practical aspects of Mechanical Enginecring with the group at the bi-monthly meetings. Movies were shown at meetings to keep the students well informed on current topics, and those fields in which the students were interested. Technical papers were prepared and presented by the nembers to the student branch and the best paper was presented at the Annual Regional Meeting of the A.S.M.E. held at Birmingham, Alabama this year.

Under the guidance of "Prof" F. K. Boutwell, the Honorary Chairman, and the other members of the Mechanical Engineering faculty, and with the assistance of various nembers of the socicty who work for the program, social, membership and publicity committecs, the officers have been able to lead the A.S.M.E. through a successful year.

In Novenber the Shoe and Shpper Club preseroted Charlac Spaah and his mellow trumpet, featuring his renowned vocalist, Irene Day.

TIIE SHOE ANI SLJPPER CLUB was founded in the spring of $19+8$ for the purpose of bringing to the campus a nationally famous band twice a rear. In the fall of 1948 Shoe and Slipper presented Charlie Spisak for a week end of music including a concert, informal and formal dances.

The elub is composed of representatives from each fraternity, freshman house presidents, and five independent representatives. Chuck White served as president the first part of the year, succeded by Roger Ǩirchofer.

MUSIC TO DANCE BY

BACK IN 1934 a group of talented young musicians bed by Sonny Burke combined their talents and organized the Duke Ambassadors. From the very start, the band was a hit, and in the past few years, has come to be known as one of the best college dance bands in the land. Many famous musicians have gotten their start in the Ambassadors. Among them Les

Brown, Johnny Long, and Vince Courtncy, who composed the present theme song "Drean Notes."

In 1937, the band went to Europe on a tour. and this year they played at the Shriner's Conrention, Chapel IIIll, Raleigh, and (irecnsboro. Maestro Tommy Farr has conducted the talented Ambassadors in the past year a year full of finc, delightful music.

NDER THE direction of J. Foster Barnes for the past 21 years, the Men's Glee Club has become one of the most outstanding campus organizations. This year approximately 150 men took part in the Clee Club's activities.

The Cilce Chub opened its 1948-49 season with a performance on Duke Liniversity Day and later with their anmal concert here in Fethruary. The (ilce Club planned two weekcond trips to points in North Carolina, and during spring vacation, forty-two select men represented the Duke (ilee Club in a concert tour to such major northern citics as Washington, Pittshurg, Philadelphia, I larrishurg, Norfolk and New York.

WITH A SONG IN THEIR HEARTS
Mrs. J. F. Barnes, Ditector

LED BY ITS founder, Mrs. J. Foster Barnes, for twenty-four consecutive years, the Women's Glee Club is the proving ground for future choral workers and a prerequisite for the Duke University Chapel Choir. Opportunities are extended to this very active group to sing many choral and solo parts.

The Triple Trio, consisting of a group of nine girls from the choir, combined with the choir to give a Sunday night sing in the East Campus Auditorium, and an annual concert in the spring. In collaboration with the Men's Glec Club an informal dance was given.

Ihe Duke Comersty Chor, led by "Batop" Barmes, has a membership of about ruo hundred smgers. Composed of students, profensors and others from the Unwersity commonity, it is a vital part of the weckly scrvices and spectal religoos hobday pertormances in the (hapel.

OR(iANIZED IN 1932 by its present director, J. Foster Barnes, the Duke choir, of two hundred members, is now one of the largest mixed choirs in the country. To become a member, an undergraduate must have bad experience in one of the glee clubs.

Besides singing in the chapel erery Sunday morning to an audience of nearly two thonsand. the choir presented Ilandel's. Wessiah at Christmas, and (iood Friday broadeast orer N.B.C In the past, Brahnis's Requicm, (iounod's Ridemption, and numerous others have been prescinted.
Erdumeth MeCenistom served as secretary, the only officer of the choir, and Nan Hedden as stukent director, did an outstanding job.

Althouglt the Madrigal Chorus was organized just five years ago, its concerts always attract many Duke students and faculty members. The primary purpose of the group is to promote interest in choral and madrigal singing. Members are selected on a basis of their interest in ehoral work, vocal accomplishment, and ability to sight-read; the group does all its work without any accompanment.

Annual trips are made to Southern Pines, Ralcigh, and Chapel Hill for concert appearances. Local concerts are also on their calendar, with presentations during the Christmas season and in April attracting large audiences. This year several broadcasts were made over local stations for the people of Durham and nearby towns.

Lindell Davidson served as the president last year, with Margaret Jones acting as seeretary and Pamela Cherry, Naney Watkins, and Barbara George as librarians. Joseph Wells handled the publicity.

A VIOLIN, A CELLO, AND BEETHOVEN

UNDER THE capable guidance of Allan H. Bone, the Symphony Orchestra has grown amazingly in the past few years. It is now a very active organization composed chiefly of students, augmented by some faculty members and townspeople.

Rehearsals are held once a week for two hours, during which time the group prepares music to be presented in its two annual winter and spring concerts. Sometimes original works written by students are played, thus offering opportunity to those who aspire to composition to hear their own work, and now and then students enrolled in the conducting class try their technique on the orchestra. Often the townspeople bring their children to the rehearsals and possibly these children are the future members of the organization.

Contrary to general belief, all their music is not of the "long-haired" variety. In addition to the familiar, and some not so familiar classics, they delve into the mysteries of the works of the more recent composers, including Gershwin and his contemporaries. All of these compositions are recorded and played over the local radio stations.

Officers for the year were: President, Barbara Beale; secretary, Jo Anne Jones; and treasurer, Bill Hogg.

W'ERY Saturday afternoon during the football season, the Duke students get a chance to see the University Marching Band in action. What most students don't realize is the great amount of work which is done by the Marching Band and its director, Allan H. Bone, in order to put on a ten minute half-time show.

Not only must the Band practice the playing of many different marches, but it must also practice intricate formations which are made at the games. Credit for the great originality of the Duke Mlarching Band's formations must be given to Lee Henkel. One of the best formations planned by Lee was performed on the field during the half-time of the Duke-Navy game in Baltimore last year. The performance included the formation of an anchor and a special sequence which included firing an arrow into a large "N." After the arrow broke up the " $N$," a large "ID" was formed and the Band played the Duke Alma Mater.

Besides performing at every football game during the last season, the Band also appeared on Friday nights in order to put a little more spark into the pep rallies.

The Marching Band has a great deal of musical talent within its ranks. At the bonfire before the game with Carolina one of the leaders thought that the song, Keep the Homefires Burning, would be appropriate. He merely shouted the name of the song and a key for playing, and the band played it straight through without ever seeing the music.

EVERYTHING BUT BE-BOP

IIE CONCERT BAND is one of Duke's newer musical organizations. Formed by Mr. Allan Hadley Bone only five years ago, it has grown into an excellent instrumental group. The prime objective of the Concert Band is to play marches, semi-classical, and classical compositions which have been especially arranged for the modern band.

The Concert Band has played such works as The Vamished Army March, Moussorgsky The Great Gate of Kier, and many other numbers, including several novelty conpositions.

The Concert Band, ever since its creation, has continually increased its activities. The first coneert tour of the organization was made this year. This tour, of three days duration, took the band to many of the largest citics in North Carolina. A special concert was given in Charlotte, N. C., before many of the leading band and orchestra directors in the state.

Besides the Band's concert tour, a radio program series was performed every wo weeks over one of the leading local stations.

An always important activity of the Band is the series of three concerts which are given each spring. Two of these conecres are performed on the East Campus lawn, and the third is performed on West Campus' main quadrangle. Always a success, these lawn concerts are greatly enjoyed by the students who like the music out-of-doors on a sumy afternoon.

STRING AND BONE

THE PURPOSE of the Chamber Orehestra is to offer opportunity to qualified and interested students for work in the field of chamber music.

In the past two years the group, under the direction of Mr. Bone, has become much more active, and has made remarkable progress.

This year's concerts included a Christmas concert; a concert in the Duke Chapel presenting music for organ and orchestra, assisted by Mildred L. Hendrix, University organist; a spring concert which included a Bach Cantata (Thou Shepherd Isracl,) a Boccherini cello concerto with Mr. William Klenz, soloist, and seven pieces for strings by Hindemith. All compositions performed by the Chamber Orchestra were recorded and presented on the weekly broadcast series, "Music from Duke," a newly initiated broadeast sponsored by the Department of Aestheties, Art and Music.

"'SAY IT WITH MUSIC’’

$T$1HE MUSIC STUDY CLUB was founded by Miss Evelyn Barnes and Mrs. J. Foster Barnes in 1933 for the purpose of gathering together Duke women who are talented or interested in music. New members, usually from the freshman class are chosen both in the spring and fall. An interest in music and a desire for self-improvement are the only requirements for membership. Along with the benefits gained by the members are the worthwhile programs of good music brought to the campus for the enjoyment of everyone.
lach year the club presents at least one recital in the Music Study Club room in East buke Building by an outstanding Senior member. This year, for the first time, three such recitals were given. In the fall three vocalists presented the program in Fast Duke auditorium: Lydia I lutchins, Jayne Cosby, and Walter Ball. Again, the first spring recital successfully presented Tony Reed, Rosalic Prince, and Guy Spann, accompanist, who presented a portion of the recital. In May a chorus of six graduating seniors were featured in a program. Through these concerts, talented girls are given an opportunity to exhibit their special talents and gain valuable experience that will aid them in future public appearances.

The meetings consist of smaller recitals by a member or a visiting artist. Often there is a leeture on some pertinent phase of musie. Through such programs as these, they are brought into closer contact with music. The members are kept well-informed as to new developments in the world of music and the importance of modern advancement in their ficld. They become familiar with the artists and works of the Classic and Romantic Periods.

Ilighlighting the social activitios of the year is the annual Christmas Party for members and their dates and co-sponsoring the annual Glee Club-Music Study Club dance.

GOVERNING STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

III PUBLICATIONS BOARD, under the chaimanship of Dean Herring, controls all student publications on the campus; it discusses and decides on problems of policy for these orgamizations. The Board was established in $192+$ and reorganized in 1935 by the Exceutive Committer.

One of the important jobs of the Board is that of electing officers for the publications. Candidates for major offices in any publication must present a petition to Dean Herring's office. No student may be an cditor or business manager longer than one year. This year clections were held earlier in order to make the newly-elected editors more familiar with their jobs.

The Board also arranges the division of profits among the editors, assistant editors, and business managers of the publications.

The following members compose the Board: six Juniors and Seniors elected by Trinity College; four Junior and Senior women elected by the Women's College; three appointed faculty members; and the five editors and business managers who are non-voting members.

In the turmoil of the Chanticiere office on a busy afternoon, the staff puts in plenty of hard work and some horse-play. Jean Itull, Sally Butz, and Bob Wilson scan pictures casually, while Kay Van Nortwick and Bob Mitchell type with the assistance of Billye Barr Herr.

The yearbook comprises the work of many people-typists, photographers, copy writers, and proof readers. Ill: $19+8$ Chanticaeer, under the editorship of Pat Way, received the All-American award, highest rating of the National Scholastic Press Association. Since 1935, when Duke first entered the competition, it has won the coseted award cight times.

The judging carried on at the University of Minnesota for the past 27 years, takes into consideration theme, make-up, editing, finances, and mechanical details of wery yearbook submitted. It classifics each book into one of five groups: All-American, First, Sceond, Third, and Fourth, ratings equivalent to superior, excellent, good, high average, and no honors.

Patricia Amn Way edited the $19+8$ book, assisted by Joan Richards, this year's editor-inchicf; it was managed by Ayles B. Shehee, Jr., assisted by Bob) Welch and Kitty Cassels.

John Barber. Business Manager

When an excellent Chanticleer comes off the press and is distributed, the people of the business staff have a right to swell with pride just as much as their "neighbors" on the editorial staff.

The business manager and his staff begin their work early in the fall with the taking of class pictures. This is a huge undertaking and kecps the staff very busy until the time for ad getting begins. The Chanticheer's advertising section requires much correspondence, accounting, banking, and "heeling," because of its large size and numerous details. Also, in the fall of the year the Beauty Queen contest and the correct handling of it require the attention of the manager and staff.

When the year-long advertising work is finished and the printed books are distributed to the students in the spring, there are still a few jobs to complete. The billing must be completed, letters must be written, and all the final details completed before the work is ended.

This year, John Barber was elected by the Publications Board to the position of Business Manager and he selected the following assistants: Co-ed Business Manager Pam Bedell, Assistant Business Manager Tom Cookerly, and Associate Business Manager Tom Bomar. Next year, however, all managers will be elected instead of being appointed. All students may become members of the staff.

. . . THE EYES AND EARS OF THE CAMPUS

Art Policr, Editur-th-Chitf
$P$ UB ROUV SAll something new this year -a campus newspaper whose editorial staff spoke its mind in a forthright manner. Under the direction of Clay Felker, editor, and Art Polier who took over this position in the middle of the year, the Chronicle brought news to the campus in a more complete and interesting way.

The masthead for the year read: Joe Wells, Associate Editor; Polly Povejsil, Co-ed Editor; Phil Treleaven, Managing Editor; George Bushnell, News Editor; and Bob Gibson, Sports Editor.

At Duke "free press" is a reality, with the discretion of the editors the only censorship imposed. As a result Chronicle editors from the first have carried on a tradition of restraint which has won praise from the students, the administration, and the alumni of the university.

In the office ot the "seckly "Ureadtane," Felker fondles the phone; stati, Smuth, Itendrecks, Bushodi, Wells, Richardson, Treleaven, and Peters work.

Working at the printers, selecting cuts for the next 1ssuc are Phil Treleaven, Polly Povejsil, and Art Polier.

sources. The advertising copy was the charge of Charlic Dayton and Jerry Trippel, assisted by a squad of able salesmen.

Circulation of the tabloid during the ycar was high in copies distributed. This deparment of the staff, headed by Hal Warren and Jody Jones on East, served West Campus dormitories and offices, East Campus houses, finding a receptive student body each Friday night.

Jule Gwynn, Joan Kanstemer, Bill Houck, and Logan Bruce have come to the conclusion that courses in statistics and accounting and : few hundred dollars in endowments from generous alumni would cone in handy for all busmess staffs, particularly the Chronide this year.

QUARTERLY DISPLAY  OF LITERARY TALENT

PuUB ROW HAS seldom seen a periodical achieve such literary heights as the 19+8-49 Archioe, the Duke literary quarterly. Reorganizing along new lines, making radical editorial poliey changes, and becoming a larger quarterly instead of a bi-monthly publication has been largely responsible.

Bob Loomis took over the editorship of the Archize with the idea in mind of modeling it along the lines of Theatre Arts. In many ways, both the Campus and Pub Row agreed that he exceeded the magazine which was his model. New two-column make-up sketches of national figures and campus literati, a series of articles on American Men of Letters and the musical column, "Leger Lines," were new features added to the student offerings of poetry, editorials, and articles.

Loring Walton headed the business staff.
"The aesthetes . . claimed that what Duke

R. I). Loomis, Editor needs is a good literary magazine. It is worth noting that the prayer of the group has been answered; Robert I). Loomis and his Huid staff have distributed the year's Archize, a "literary quarterly" which more than smacks of a professional production.
"The Archive, during its long history as one of the oldest collegiate literary magazines in the country, has vacillated between being good, poor, and very poor. This year it reached nearer perfection than it ever had before, setting a new standard which will lend the publication new prestige."-Duke Chronicle.

BED SIDE MANNER GOES TO PRESS

- ET THIE voices of the Student Nurses." This is the permanent by-line of the publication of the Duke School of Nursing, Spectal Chart. It is the intention of the editorial staff of this news-magazine to get the opinion and comments of the nurses on important current affairs as well as to be an efficient periodical dealing with nurses' activities.

In the year 19+8-1949 Special Chart ceased existence as a bi-monthly mincographed periodical to produce full-fledged printed issues appearing four times during the school term. Including comments on national affairs, alumnace notes, new advances in mursing, Special Chart was mider the supervision of Novita Burroughs and diel not limit itself only to production of the magazine, for it sponsored a May Day dance. Bach year's staff is chosen by the retiring editor and is then voted upon by the student body. Miss Ruth I Hunter advises the publication.

THE DUKENGINEER is published quarterly by and for the students of the College of Enginecring. It prints articles of a technical and semi-technical nature on electrical, civil, and mechanical engineering subjects. In order to provide added ineentive to submit articles of outstanding merit, the DllkEingineer offered its second annual techuical writing contest.

This year, an attempt was made to broaden the perspective of the magazine so that it would appeal not only to the more advanced students, but also to the freshmen and the sophomores. To this end, such features as "Presscope,". a digest of the latest developments in science and engineering, was added. Due to the phenonsenal growth of spirit and activity among the engineers, there was plenty to report on the pages of the student news section. The last page in the magazine, but never the last to be read, is "Lub," a humorous portrayal of the life and trials of the Duke Suminertinie $19+8$ found the Duke middies hoisting anchor for the West coast where they encountered the bright lights at al of San Francisco and embarkation plans for their ensuing eruises. Two of the Nary's finest ships were waiting for the boys from Duke, the carrier Boxer and the eruiser Pasadent. Fifty Duke sophomores boarded the Pasadena at Treasure Island, and twenty juniors joined the Boaer at Alameda. Underway on board the Boxer, the middies were given the free run of the ship for two days so that they might find their way about the labyrinth of passageways. At sea on 28 Junc, the weather was favorable and flight operations were amounced for all midslipmen on a voluntary basis. Flying was off to a good pace and upon arrixal in Pearl I larbor, $3+1$ midshipmen had made TBM flights and fourteen had flown in the helieopters. A high point in air activities was a dawn strike on Oahu in which eleven midshipmen participated.

On the morning of 7 July the Task Force, including the Boaer, sortied from Pearl Harbor and proeceded to a target area off Oahu to observe and participate in the sinking of the former battleship New Iork. This was a most unusual event which provided plenty of exeitement for all on board.

Those on board the eruiser had an exciting eight weeks since the underway phase of the cruise included the sinking of the former battleship Necadr, a dawn attack on Oahu employing carrier aireraft, submarines and surface ships, a refucling operation at sca, and salvage towing exercises. At Pearl Harbor a group of volunteer midshipmen made four dives at sea in a submarine.

On our return to Duke we found three new officers attached to the Unit. Captain Kowalzyk was relieved by Captain Ralph Earle, Jr., who prior to his Duke assignment commanded the cruiser Topeka. Commander Clyde J. Van Arsdall, Jr., relieved Commander A. B. Coxe. "Van" had previously served as destroyer skipper and as executive officer with the NROTC at the University of Oklahoma. Lieutenant Paul S. Eckhoff made a short shift following graduation from Duke Law School to our Unit.

Later in the year the Commodores' Club gave its annual dance. Ray Roberts presented lovely Carolyn Calliban from Ashand, Kentucky, who was crowned by Don W'ithers as reigning queen of the ball.

This year the NROTC was composed of 207 men in all classes. Juniors numbered 22, sophomores ot, and freshmen came in 117 strong. Three NACP students completed the corps. The Unit is closely divided between regular and contract students with 106 regulars and 97 contracts

Regular students receive their appointments from the Navy Department as the result of a nationwide college aptitude test which is given cach year. These men are thus enabled to go through college on a Navy scholarship and on graduation are commissioned and serve for two years. The contract students are distinguished by the fact that they have no period of obligated service and pay their own way through college. Both the categorics of students embark on essentially the same program. One three-hour Naval Science course is taken each semester along with two hours of drill. Regulars take three summer cruises, whereas contract students take one. Contract students may qualify for a commission in the Nary, Naval Rescrve, Marine Corps, or Marine Corps Reserve. Members of the Unit attend classes and make their living arrangements as do other members of the University community. They are free to participate in all activities of the University and may choose their ficlds of study

I IIE INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL is composed of the president and one representative of each fraternity. The purpose of this conncil is to work with the fraternities for their aduancement, and to work with other organizations for the improvement of Duke University as a whole.

The Council published a Freshman Ilandbook, enforced requlations conceming fratemities, revised the rushing rules, and sponsored (ircel Week after spring rushing. The Duke H: is associated with other college He's through a representative who is sent each year (1) the national consention. The conncil serves as a "beiling pot" for fraternity problems and makes decisions conceming these problems.

A tations, Pan-Hellenic Council provides a formon to discuss fraternity problems.

After the two week rush period was over, Pan-l led branched into other activities. It sponsored a social service program whereby members of each sorority spent time at various community institutions supplementing the work of the "Y." In December, Pan-llel held a workshop with representatives from other colkeges for a series of conferences. Problems such as rushing, pledge training, and social programs were discussed by mational and local alumnae of all sororities. Spring semester brought forth the ammal Pan-ltel Dance at which Whiter Davis was chosen the Arabian Knight. An open house and a scholarship award were also sponsored.

HIINGS HAVE really changed since ATO moved on the campus in 1872. It is now the oldest fraternity chapter on "the flats;" but even when things had progressed to the days when Brother Robert L. Flowers started as instructor in mathematics, there was no basis for predicting that we would be known as the "mobile unit." This vear everyone came back on wheels-except Middlesworth. Music has changed from the pre-ragtime to the pro-bop; Farr, Hutchins, Steele, and the rest of the Ambassadors being chief instigators. Proctor, Ilofsomer, Kenaston, and Schmidt, convinced that an apple a day will never replace medicine, push toward Med school. "Father" Brackney defends chausinistically his musketeer roommates, Conner and Clausen. Wagner gathers material for his book, The Price You Pay for Victory. Siler, Enander, Holyfield, and Chambers are pocket-sized "Four Horsemen." President Croft tries to shorten meetings, but not at the expense of an Arkansas drawl. Treasurer Landis tries to convince people, in explaining his expense account, that Idaho gasolinc is 30 c a gallon. Chuck White and the $S$ and $S$ gives Duke a hypo in reviving the ancient custom of big name bands at Duke. Ellsworth, "Jose" Carloss and the "Shack" try to put museles on their muscles. Speir gets Friday's laundry back on Monday. And Roland still "done it wrong." Schoonmaker tries to do it right. There must be a hidden knack.

And SO THE Betas prepared for another year. Ellis worried about med school, and Gallant searched for an understanding woman. The "do-nothings," McMahon and Bowles, held open house every night, but Lym wouldn't let Herriot attend. The Kuman brothers kept our clothes clean, but DiMona wouldn't cooperate. Jones and Withrow made the devils walk and talk, while Leitner and White turned into Homecoming mechanies. Bugg, Cooper, and Reyle set an example, but Rudisill dropped engineering instead. Highsmith ventured into politics, and Ray deserted us for his freshmen.

Bridge traded in his "Joseph's coat" on a later model, while Hodgson expounded on Aristotle, and $\mathrm{Fl}_{\mathrm{ynn}}$ just expounded. Wanzer and John Pierce relentlessly made A's, while Farno and Frank Newman vied for "crazy eight" supremacy. Tapley coördinated sexlife and temms, as Griff set new track records. Lynch filled Fieldson’s shoes while Livingston looked forward to his twelfth semester. Grose returned, and Mark (Look, l'm pinned!) (arber had hair in his eyes. Thigpen and Wilder kept the accent on youth, while Kent acted as our religious adviser. Woodworth played ball, but Colvin jumped for his exercise. Crreenteaf and Simon learned to play the piano, but Tommy thought only of Dot. John and Frank ("some kind of great") Sherrill bolstered the Beta fleet, and Cook rushed via radio. Bob Newman considered marriage, but Nelson only lost his pin. Otis and Hayes left indelible marks on D. C. Guince turned celebrity, and Sugg appeared again sims pin. So we depart with Klees screaming madly in the distance.

SDHALL WE drop in at the Chapter room in House X? The card table is the scene of a hot pinochle game between "Renegle" Clowar, "Mr. Esquire" Biddison, "Happy Joe" Shipley, and "I" Garvine, expertly "kibitzed" by Bob McDonald. Lou Viau is explaining his latest money-making scheme to Prexy Jack Murray, while "Mole" Mochlenkamp and Bob Silkett, petting bags of sheckels, listen in. Clancy Varta and Tom deShazo display their, newest creations in paper dolls to roommates Ray Adam and Harry Ford who are planning to vacation in Duke Hospital, Meyers Ward. Politician P. J. "Fatter than you are" Thomas is starting a campaign to re-name the East and West Campus road-"Lapp's Folly." Bill Nelson, Bill Hann, and Hal Culbreth discuss their new movement-"M.C.T.U." Delta Kappa's K.K.K. is still operating - Karukstis, Keevan, and Komlosi, that is. Jack Matlock is lecturing on political science to Harry Storey who cannot see how Dewey and Warren polled more votes than Veech and Boudreau. Fred Miller and Joe McDonald, the married men, left early. Solitaire is taking Frank Chamberlin. Speaking of cards, "Chooch" Farinella claims to have seen a deck of sixty-nine cards Jim Allen and Bob "C"mon, will ya" Thomas are set for a little "Bluc Ribbon drill" with Bobbie. "Bartells" Ollen and "Dickey" Reardin are lost now that their loving cup basket has been moved from in front of the mirror. Jack Underwood and Charlic Duttweiler never tire of John Littleton's "Tale of Miss '+3." The arrival of "Mags" Moriarty and his lacrosse stick disperses the group through every exir.

Kappa Alpha believes that young college men are in the most important stage of life as regards the development of character. The fraternity, with itsogroup of &afefully chosen members, supplies the environment to aid the college sturent fiffotaining this development.

Wand parties flourishing, the Seniors are reluctant to leave the Grand Old Gang. No card games in the chapter room brought tears to the eyes of Austin, "Eli" Smith, Lancy, and "Chaz" Smith. The gang migrates to "Ziegfield" Baynes' production at his plantation estate. Loren Young uses track ability to jump from third floor after educational movic. Crusty was impressed. Exodus to D. (. found many of the boys enjoying the game (?). Summers, Tirb, Shaf, and Millard got carly start- to the game that is.

Fearless Freddic leads Big Blue along with Hughes, Stephanz, Knotts, Austim, Montgomery, Cox, Bob Frye, Hodges, Harris, and Hipps. Early games point to a successful season. Dunson, Coble, Dunham, Morris, Spearman, and Laney look good in intramural football. Coaches Shaffer of "A" team and Eirich of " $B$ " team use super strategy.

Back with their "Southern Belles for life" are Rollo, Jerry Frye, Propst, and Foreman. Congrats. Basketball prospects look good with "Chipper" Martin, the "Blond Bomber," and "Fabulous" Hughes leading the way. Sapp's status questionable due to age-limit rule. "Pinky" strictly on the ball for social functions. Al Smith escorts usual beautiful date. Hillman, Armour, Ernest, Hauser, and Rogers at the Saddle Club. "Scoop" outstanding singer in men's lounge. "Padre" Jackson heads I. I larrington, Higgins, and "Count" Cash camp on East. "Fish" voted cinema king. Hicks and "Cheeps" Chapman still making racket on the courts. It was one big swell year.

Abstract

Kppa Sigma is a fraternity of jovial, conscientious men who combine studies, entertainment and athletics equally, producing a delightful concoction of friendship and everlasting brotherhood. These bonds were formed in good faith and shall never be forgotten.

Bubbles" holcroft, Cannticleer photographer, has quite a trade in "Party Pictures"-especially after the Washington week-end. Bowling, "chief giggyist," instructed the giggyettes and a bell hop while Murph retired to the fire escape. Cheek had an affection for glass doors while Barnett centered his on a Pemnsy Maid. We see Prexy "Lover" Glover between trips to Roanoke. Lowe, "Stcamer" and Smith also have many happy talcs about that Virginia city. Earl Evans still has his nose in the "green book." Forrest and Meara are still at the "butchershop." Up in 209 Tom Evans burns the midnight oil awaiting the return of "Doc," Gibson, Stewman, and Gray from East. Kcllanı has a time listening to Winn's and Fulton's worries. "Wild Bill" Domingos and Mass are tiring of their line. "Slush pump" Goodwill is terror on cab drivers while Jeske and Johnson are lucky to find the door. Doescher and his Ford are as hard to find as Hall and Diamond. Small and Blankenchip are our "gruesome twosome." "High pockets" Boger is ruming coke fiends Mosier and Rose a good race. Fulweiler will hide Terpenning's harmonica before exams. Howes is knocking himself out while Gossett is knocking out "t's". Sledge and Mitchell are quiet but good Kappa Sigs. Southern Conference shot put champ O'Leary joins Cuz, Shark, and Christines in collecting intramural trophies while Davis, Bensinger, Sires, D'Alonzo and Erickson boost Duke's diamond hopes. Other star athletes-Scioscia, Fred Smith, Mounic, Anderson, Cavanaugh, Swalchick and Scarborough.

REMIEMBER when . . Dave was the only forestry student ever to be lost in the woods? He won a compass and a Van Fossen tic, that was presented to him by Tissot, the only one who could talk him into taking it. Then there was Murray who could get everything but q. p.'s wholesale. That must have been the reason Fred kept taking Spanish courses.

Rix was the only Stanford student attending Duke. Figure that out. He and Charlic Lucas could also play guitars with their shocs on. And then Dick Null, the martinet of the chapter room, got ahcad of us all. We made it, though; and that includes Hank Marlow. Thinking it over, I guess no one really told John Wise that everyone's name isn't Bob. That, however, may not be true in Winston-Salem. Rich could put us straight on this point.

Is Al Smith still rebuilding his house? Don't ask Gorrell, because he doesn't know.

Who turned out the lights, anyway? . . Or maybe the roof did fall in. Way was cast out by the Housing Bureau but not by East. Carl got back in, but he really never left Southgate.

Only Wade Clifton, who seemed to belong to every business firm in Durham, could give pointers to the Kinabes; Atwood, however, could run him a close race. Didn't he and Rusty ever slecp? Mendenhall and Hester were as lucky as they come. So is Bingham, for that matter. Tronolone lived on the third floor, and Boughman just made it. More new pledges were initiated, and the old members hope that they will carry on the traditions which we have helped to establish in this chapter.

Sigma Chi emphasizes a three-phase program at Duke: To attain a high academic record, to be represented in and faithfully serve the approved student groups on the campus, and to cultivate in its members a sense of fraternity interest, cooperation, and responsibility.

HI BROTHERS were discussing Dizzy Gillespic, the Leahy System, and plans for our Sweetheart Dance in the two corners of the room with lightbulbs when in walked S.G.A. President Welch, Sigma Chi President Boggs, and Verner, their roommate. Politicians, reporters, and psychology professors followed them.

The co-captains of the basketball squad, "Curly" and Ben, dribbled in with team-mates Youmans and Godfrey. They began enjoying the proceedings when a knock sounded at the door, and in pranced "Be-bop" Stewart to complete the evening program.

Polier of Chromicle fame interrupts his pub row chat with Houck, business manager of the Chronicle, long enough to suggest to Barber, Chanticterer business manager, that the boys get together for a little How High the Moon, with "Diz" Henkel, trumpet, "Wild Don" Hernance, trombone, our prexy "Bird" Boggs on the saxophone, Stewart on the vocal choruses, and Barber on the drums. Karl, gridiron guard, rounds out the rhythm section. Just when the house is jumping, Marshal! calms down the party by announcing his inability to slecp. Then Jones, Sterling, and Dayton, cheerleaders, rejurenate the spirit.

Coach Chillingworth, leaving the conversation comparing him to Frank Leahy, announces that Sigma Chi is tops in intramurals with the Byrd brothers leading the way and Futtrill, Mac Batchelor, Lyle, Turner, Emmons, and Palumbo, standouts.

Palumbo, taking his cuc, leads us in A Sig I AM; and the evening is ended.

No man is fully educated, no matter how much history, medicine, physics, art, br music he has become proficient in, until he has learned to live in harmony with his fellow men. Then, and only then, has he crossed the barrier betweef Barbarity and civilization.

IN TIIE YEAR 1949 there were two score birds who blocked together, although they were not, as the saying goes, of a feather.

Protocol demands that those weary, workworn executives come first in the Sig Ep profile: President Dwight Isenhour . . . of the earsplitting laugh, part time paterfamilia to little Ike, Jr. back home; Vice-President Joe Danicl . . . savior of backward German students; Secretary Bob DeVore . . . sage of Ninety-Six, S. C.; Treasurer Bev Mckeowen . . . softhearted moneygrabler, Historian Malcolm Magaw . . . "mnique" is the only word.

Wetcomed back were two gentlemen, "sobered" and ready to face the world again: Bill "Fish" Elrod and Bill "Elocution" Ramsay.

There are those who will soon be labeled "our dear, departed" brothers: Bd Best who

Mel Sinioff, President

AFTER THE first meeting where everything was discussed from the budget to Bob Yudell's latest girl friend, the Z.B.'.'s settled down to another year of study, parties, open houses, Hearts, and general madness.

Ex-president Wechsler came back to school with a Constitution and a Z.B.T. manual determined to hold President Mel Satloff's power to a minimum. Levin is looking over the budget to find why the ducs were increased. He became suspicious when the Kirsch brothers traded their Ford for a Cadillac convertible. Then in room $10+$ there is "The Z.B.T. Breakfast Club": "Slide Rule" Newman, "Lover Boy" Novick, and "Just Plain Joe" Shulsinger. Gerstein is the sharp dresser with Herb Shapiro running a close second. Landau was the first brother in the fraternity's history to try swimming at an evening cabin party. Barry Siskind and Jim Solomon served as lifeguards during Ed's aquaties.

The shaking of the fraternity section every evening is not an earthquake. It's Ed Berne doing his daily sit-ups. The high scholarship boys headed by Robert Rauch and assisted by Bob Fischell, Liam Haim, Carroll Weinberg, Friedman, Stan Nabow, and Jack Rosenberg are struggling to build up the fraternity's average; while Leon Dworsky is taking care of the spiritual matters and Don Silver, "The Poor Man's Wallace Wade," is ably running the athletic affairs. Howy Goodman is looking for the person who left a coke bottle in the chapter room. Burn Fricdman and Hank Harris are the only half-way normal boys in the fraternity; no one knows how they got in.

TiIME TO SAY aloha again. The dock is crowded with many A D) Pis as they bid the sighing seniors good-bye.

Now Anne Carol takes our roaming microphone over to hear our favorite calypso singers; Lib Murray, Jan Savage, and Julia Carr giving out with our theme song "Friendship."

Seen beneath the ship, gracefully diving for pennies are Rossie, Nancy R., and Witt. And there are the pledges . . . hanging over the side . . . not missing a trick, of course.
Captain Rose Maric signs the last page of her log book, which is filled with exciting adventures which befell us on our journey this year.

Harrict G., Allison, and Beppie are rushing up and down the dock selling their "Flowers."

What is this we see? Why, it is none other than Shirley Field leading Naney Me. and Alda by the hand, trying to show them how to get on board without the gangplank.

There's lan taking up a collection to clothe the shmoos from Skunk Hollow. "No more books," scream Gene I Harris and Sigic as they toss their last bundle of history notes into the deep blue sea.

Here comes the farewell chorus cuties composed of Lib B., Rose Ann, Anna Lee, Jean Hull, Erd, and Roland. V. A. is now seen descending the gangplank calling, "All ashore that's going ashore.'

And here come Mitzi and Diane waving fond goodbyes as they slide down the anchor rope.

And as our ship sinks slowly in the west, we hear the lilting strains of "I Hate to Lose You, I'm so Use to You Now." This lovely song is sung by our famous double-quartet . . . Harrict Q., Kitty, Bunny, Cattic, Ann B., Rosalic, Pat C., and Jane S.

KivN系 WMulta corda, una causa"-_'Many hearts, one purpose" reads the motto of Alpha Epsilon Phi. With an active interest in national, campus and sorority affairs, AE Phi is able to successfully achieve its goal-betterment of the individual and consequently the group as a whole.

"Fand as we light up our Chesterfields, each smoke ring brings back to the girls with the pins of pearls a hovering memory of another terrific AE Phi year.

Roz leads the parade of sparklers, lays down the gavel, puts away the Phi Bete key, and picks up the mop. Enta "You Call Everybody Darlim'" Cove leaves with top billing, as she looks toward the great White Way. "Mother" Penny, with many a grey hair, finally relieved of her little wards. Ida no longer to keep the money for Brown and the Campus Chest Fund. She's off for bigger stakes. Nancy'll keep knocking 'em dead with the new look. Guess Abby likes short hair. It's good-bye seniors, guess it won't be quite the same.

Eisenberg finally gets in with the Zebes, in between long distance calls. La Belle now only keeps 'em waiting half an hour; but she still beats out a mean boogic. Dot, our former Sandals prexy, now just an old boot. But as Sherman took over Georgia, she hopes to follow Grant. Jack-of-all-trades Rees all in favor of reinstating the volunteer system.

Ole Money Bags Wechsler miserly protects the sinking fund, while Colde frantically tries to sink it in to just one more dance. Joanic, our Maryland transfer, arrives with big ideas . . . the men like them too. Brady brings the pledges up right. And there's Judy to disprove the theory of the sophomore slump.

Our pledge dance at the Wash-Duke. The spring cabin party, the coffees, our suppers in the room, the open houses that turned into rat races, they were all fun. And now the pledges, Laney, Sugar, Simmel, Barbara, Marilee and Ber keep the cups brightly polished in anticipation of another shining year.

real and lasting value; that it should aid us in becoming well rounded citizens.

THIS HAS BEEN another one of those years to look back upon with smiles and happy memories. First, our pledges-each one different, and all wonderful. "Beeps," the three Pat's, pint-sized Phoebe and Jan, and Carline, Jan, Betts, the two Ellie's, Ann, Helen, Luey, Phylis, Prue, Laura, and Lita. Thank you rush chairmen Connic and Wilks.

Let's not forget the rest of the chapter, though . . . but could we forget president Pat? . . . or, several feet lower, Pedie, ever true to Sigma Chi, "Butch?" No, of course not, any more than Fran's friendly smile that disproved once and for all the partnership of red hair and temper, or Betty, clacking her collection of keys as roommate Helen and "Gee, I'm sorry I'm late" Elly sent us in to gales of laughter.

Then there are those with sparkling eyes and fourth fingers . . . blond Miekey, Ginny, Ann, and pledge mistress Lou.

In the corner Glenn mumbles and tries to stretch the money a little bit farther as Pat helps count chips, the harmony girls, Beach, Nixon, B. J., and Ella Amn, make sweet music, and Mary Dan and Ruth explain their status to the confused pledges. Bobbie, brush in hand, heads for the mirrors as Fay descends with camera handy. Busy with their freshmen and transfers are Myers, Marty, and Linnic, and over yonder pre-meds Dot and Comic, think of Dune and Stan rather than Med School . . . and "Fun," frowning over plans for the next social function confers with artist Schmid. Jean still knits sweaters by the dozen as Huyler dreams of bigger and better parties, and Fleming thinks of changing her major as another chemistry quiz becomes history . . . McGrael still looks beautiful.

Yes, it's a year to remember . . . one that makes all "believe in my fraternity . . . its friendships . . its high ideals . . in Alpha Phi.."

SSTRODE INTO our Delta monkey chamber the other day to find Jan Ross and Skippy Prosser shaking the foundations with some new somersault cheer while June Farrington does a softshoe danee to the accompaniment of tunester Ainslic Palmer on a one tooth mouth organ. Marilyn Bailey and Ginger llaynes fight valiantly to up hold the glory and prestige of the Florida contingent. Cleveland fan Deme Cool nods sagely, "So, that my dear children, is how we won the series," the mere mention of sports sending Faye Reifsnyder into a paroxym of "What we need are more athletes" with Jane Wilkins standing by clutching last year's Delta Phi Rho Alpha Cup. Merle Rainey adds cheerfully to the current styles as she knits rapidly at her chartreuse muffer and Berry Lipscomb deeides to wear thats tonight: "He"s only six two." Barbara Armstrong gives us the word from Pan-Ilel. while our rock and strength Bernic Wadlington raps for order in her own pensive manner: "Shut UP!" Betty Habenicht and Lois Hobbs try out a little fast harmony on "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" and Joan Oliver hands roomic Betsy Olsen a letter opener so she can dispose of her daily shipment quiekly and quietly while Phyllis White interrupts periodically: "Now at Macon we. . .." Lelia Shore and Pat Carter are stirred to conquer new horizons for dear old Tri Delta, Carolyn Reed sounding the war ery: "Aycock is dying!" Bev Gerber and Shirley Snell uphold the loyal order of ATO and look snide at Anne Harris fingering her Kappa Sig pin "But I'm not really pinned" . . . Betsy Johnson and Becea Woolen eluck significantly while Martha Nichols coos, "He's just the swectest boy" . . . Scottic Taytor leaping about . . . "Debate anyonc?" All-American Girls, Shocky Wade and lolly llartung explain the intricacies of tiddly-winks to "T"'Stevens. So 'til another year we bid dear old Tri Delta a fond adieu.

Founded for the perpetuation of friendship: The realization of the strongest bonds of understanding and sympathy between one another. The inculcation 0 f the highest mental aims: and the greatest service to the university . . . these are the purposes of Delta Gamma.

M RS.ST. PETER dusted off her little golden anchor, welcomed the chapter and spoke of many things . . . mid-Victorian color schemes and night caps, politics and mountain dew. Cherry, chicf cherub in charge of affairs offered a toast and the meal began. Seated at the president's table were Mary Robinson, whose judicial efforts had earned her a place in Heaven; Pcggy Penfield, who mothered us all; Doma Gleason, keeping things "coördinated"; and Nancy Nesmith who had served as Pan-Hel. vice-president at Duke. Doris and Georgie, sitting together, discussed wedding bells . . . Judy, Joyce, Kitty, Linthicum, and Dejon roted "no" . . . Tracy had to leave . . . a violet deity party in five minutes. Entertaimment was prorided by a choir among whom were Nancy Bloom, Mary Stormont, Muriel Neal, and Jan Cooper, and Jean was embarrassed because she shouted "hogfat" after each Hallelujea . . . Nary Jo shouted "Quict Puhlcez" . . . and things returned to normal as Pat Walker rose to speak on "the merits and values of the state of New Jerscy." Jane Waltz, who wasn't left behind the door when the beauty was passed around came in late bringing with her Joey, "our outdoor girl," and little Clem. Pepper, Bobbie, Nancy, and Babs sat in the corner studying instructions for new angels while Marie . . . Provost number two, prompter, and the two Carols looked sympathetic. Nary stopped remembering cabin parties to talk to Gini and Sara, and Betty announced that she was sleepy. The evening ended with "Dear D. Gi." It brings back memories of a crowded room, hilarious laughter, friendily chatter under the love and loyalty of a Theta kite and twin stars ever so brighty A light of hope for the future with a sense of purpose and a belief in the worth of true friendship will bring to the black and gold eternal meaning.

Join the driver's seat, all we could remember was Fergy and the fanous last words - "In the tong run, kids." We couldn't forget either Wink Boonc's role of Dorothy, Dottie's roaring Leo and the brand-new trio, lilting Lil Grainger, Claude and Nan.

Made a round of the dorms yesterday and burst in on Imler plaming a sophomore meeting. Caught Patsy dashing to meet her latest admirer; Shylock Vocgetin counting money, I Hanks out as always-tending affairs of state. Do Sally M. and Laurie ever have time to study after they've tucked the kiddies in? I saw Scherciner and "Please excuse me white I write a Cetter" Camphausen. Crashod a red-rug party at Bassett in the Beeker-White suite. Left with Sis and saw Martha's caller still waiting. What a house is this Pegram. Sallie presiding over the house meetings, Caroline knitting socks for Bill, Alison under the sun lamp. The strains of Jodie's violin hastened me on to West to Pub Row. Saw the usual crowd, Kay busy on the Chanticieer, Brad Archive typing, I Iendricks gabbing in the Chronicle office. Impressed with the pietures of the Beauty Court, Hanser, Mims, Chapman, Beek and Rushing.

Recreating at the Saddle Club, l saw Madge with Earle naturally, Aldrich, Tyler and Fulcher. Leaving I ran into the old Miller bunch-Noble, Betty-Poo, Jean Am, Fergy, and Happy.

Vivid pictures in the past: Quecnie's trip West to view Venus, and Carolyn's face the night of the Navy Ball. What would happen to Edic's grade if she didn't wear blue to exams? They say all Morse has to do is sign her name to a paper, and she gets an "A."

On that joyous note I close the old journal with one more observation-just off the record, those two people we thought we'd never see pinned-Hendricks and Rushing.

Sigma Kappa visualizes a society based on intellectual, social, and spiritual development. Loyal service and devotion to the college and the sorority, based ofl the fellowship so necessary to college women, are the bywords of Sigmas, whostrive to live by "One heart, one way."

WHEN WE WENT to the Sigma Kappa room Friday, we found Jean Kilmer planning to buy a bigger gavel to use at meetings and Jo thinking of new tasks for eager pledges, June, Phyllis, Wilma, Juanita, Frances, Helene, Iola, Anin, Sue, and Katherine. Mae Nelson was admiring the scholarship improvement trophy and Mary McLeod, always true to the PiKA's, was cleaning out the files. Madeline was looking over the newly decorated chapter room, pulling the drapes open and closed to see whether they really worked, while Alice and Peggy sat in one corner comparing engagement rings.

On campus we saw Georgia headed for the hospital and Dickie and Chamison on their way to the high school. Mimi was down on her knees praying for good flying weather and we saw Starry go by, carrying a copy of Richard III and a South Carolina tourist poster. Beeky Burrum was there with her pin-up, Jack, and Mickey was hurrying from one lab to another.

Wilma and Thalia walked down campus, Wilma talking about wedding plans and Thalia, queen of the Cilles House revels, laughing, Mac was at home trying to balance the books; Shasta was trying to learn to go off the diving board without getting her hair wet. Jayne was practicing for the Music Study Club concert and Letty Lois was doing her part as the freshman's Dorothy Dix. Jane and Charlotte, the Sigma Sailorettes, danced by.

In the Union we saw Dot, the most angelic kid we know, and Bev, the best dancer of all, talking to the two earnest knitters, Jan Brown, whose socks with the Beta crest amaze every one, and Ann Barnett with her mysterious argyles. Shep, our future novelist, came in and so did Monie, who had just gotten off the desk. Anne Smith, our Phi Bete, and Celia, who had just been to get a Chromile story, dropped by too.

1949

1949 nineteen hmared and fortyonine 1949

GINA MIlMS, Kappa Alpha Theta junior from Memphis, Tenmessee, reigned as the 19+9 Chanthelemer Beauty ( Qucen. She was crowned at the Amual Co-cd Ball in the Woman's College Gym on Friday, November 26, 19+8.

Because of the complaints of men on West who have been clanoring to have a part in choosing the beauty queen, the method of selection was altered this year to suit their wishes. Following the plan recently put into effect by the Student Coördinate Board, the eight dormitories on East and the Town (iirls' Club cach nominated seven girls for the Beauty Court. The names of these sixty-three candidates were then presented to the student boly of Dast Campus at their October W'SGiA meeting who, in this secondary voting, narrowed the candidates to thirty-five girls. These were subsequently photographed by Chasticiezr staff photographers. Their pictures were placed in the West Campus Umion Lobby where every male had an opportunity to cast his ballot for twenty of the thirty-five girls

The twenty finalists were photographed by the official Chanticuer photographer, James

In addition to the queen, Mr. Caniff selected the following girls as members of her court: Marjoric Arthur, Mary Ann Atkins, Mary Louise Bixby, Laura Duncan, Shirley Ficld, Janc Am Coode, Jan Jansen, Betty Rushing, Lindy Stivers, and Marian Chapman

The theme of the ball was along the lines of a "(inderella Ball," and this was carried through to the ceremonies at the intermission. Bob Welch, president of the Men's Student Government Association, introduced the members of the Social Standards Committee and their dates as they formed along the aisle from the door of the gymnasium to the raised dais on which the queen was to be crowned. He also introduced, in the order of their pictures on the following pages, the members of the Beauty Court and their dates who formed a semieirele in front of the dais. Dewey Huffines, acting as a page in scarch of someone who could wear the magic slipper, tried to fit it on several members of the Court. At this moment, Cina Mims stepped from a mock carriage at the rear of the dais and wore the slipper successfully, after which Johnny Barber, as Business Manager of the Chantichefr, crowned her.

THE NAVY BALL, traditionally held every year immediately following Christmas vacation, was on Friday, January 7. The dance committee made all the arrangements for the closed dance which was held in the Women's (iymnasium, Fommy Farr and the Duke Ambassadors providing the music.

The N.R.O.T.C. quech was crowned during the intermission by lieutenant Commander Don Withers, student battalion commander. The students in the Corps selected Miss CaroIyn Callihan, Kappa Apha theta junior from Ashland, Ky., over nine other contestants who were sponsored by different members of the Unit. She was conducted by Ray Roberts, Commodore Club president, through an areh of raised swords to a flag-todecked signat bridge where Withers crowned her and presented her with a bouquet of roses.

FFrom among six candidares for the title, Shirley Field was chosen "Sweetheart of Sigima Chi" for 19+8-49. Her coronation was part of an annual banquet and dance held December 3, 19+8, at Hope Valley Country Club. John Boggs prescited the queen with a cross of white carnations, a small personal trophy, and a silver trophy to be retained by her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi.

The six candidates for the erown, chosen by members of the local chapter from thirty-six contenders, were as follows: Nina Arnold, Jan Ross, Jane Caldwell, Laura Duncan, Lena Harris and Shirley Ficld.

In preparation for making the final selection of sweetheart, an open house was held in the Sigm: Chi chapter room, at which the various candidates were entertained. Afterwards, the fraternity entertained the candidates at an informal dance in the Ark at which the six finalists were chosen.

WEST'S BEST DISPLAY CHARIMS FOR ARABIAN KNIGHT TITLE

THE MOST original secne to appear on Duke campus recently was the tableau of "Arabian Kinghts" at the second amual spring dance of the Pan-Hellenic Council. For many years the men of West campus have chosen the girls whom they have admired for their beauty and personality, but women had no chance to piek their favorite male. The women hit upon the original idea of choosing an "Arabian Knight" or, as he was called the previous year, a (ireck king.

Bach sorority picked a candidate, his measurements, eyes, hair, height, weight, elost, shoulders, waist,-were taken and a publicity campaign begun. Riding in convertibles full of beautiful con-eds and newspaper pictures of domestic bliss preceded the voting by the entire campus. Diven a beauty-parade before the assembly of the Woman's College was featured.

The crowning moment came as the knight, supported by two sorority sponsors, was crowned with a large, red velvet turban at the Pan-l|ellenic dance. Jean Savage, president of Pan-l|cl. Was on hand to crown the choice.

REUUCTANTLY WE RETURN IN THE FAIL TO OLD FRIENDS, STRANGE FACES, AND A NEW SCFEDULE OF QUIZZES AND TERNI PAPERS

Dmoment with the arrival of green freshmen at an early date in September. Broad brimmed "dinks" were jammed on the heads of West's rebellious freshmen with strict orders from upperclassmen to keep off the Senior Walk. East's new supply of co-eds were cuddled and pampered through the tense period of indoctrination. The neophytes collapsed in an exhausted state after one week of placement tests, parties, and tours around the campus with little idea of what was really ahead. After many envious looks at the fall fashions imported by the fledglings, the oldsters as well as the newcomers felt a certain amount of anticipation at standing in line at the book exchange, trying out a new schedule; soon the excitement wore off and everyone settled back into a state of lethargy.

East Campus wore a perpetual smile and mouthed an affected friendly greeting through the two weeks of sorority rushing. The trek out to the Duke Stadium to support the Blue Devil eleven brought college spirit and social life to its peak. In its biggest year since the end of the war, school spirit bounded back with the revival of the pajama parade to downtown Durham and the traditional bonfire and pep rally preceding the Duke-Carolina game.

The West Campus scene taken from Chemistry building shows one of the rare occasions when Duke is seen under a blanket of snow. The first snowfall finds the large florida contingent outside enjoying the "cold, northern winter." Wany of them have never seen snow before.

Marilyn Paley and Kay Rechardon enter wholeheartedly into the Yulctide spirit as they decorate the Chrismads tree in Jarvis House.

OPKNING with the last football game and introduced by the Co-ed Ball, the winter season brought about a more dignified and stately air to the Duke seene. After the Beauty Queen was properly placed on her throne amid pomp and discussion, East and West settled down to thoughts of preparation for Christmas, which was only a month away.

Exen though Miller's and the Saddle Club enjoyed their usual week-end prosperity, the Student liorum and Coneert Series lent a scholarly atmosphere; Cornclia Otis Skimer and Lily Pons were the most popular artists of the year, attracting even those students who fall into the elassification, "it's not for knowledge that we came to college."

After the two weeks of home and perfect freedom, the Dukesters returned in bigh spirits, only to be dashed by impending exams. The dorms were like tombs, and breakfast in the Union suddenly becanne the fad.

The freshmen wondered how they would ever live through another exam period, while the worldly seniors shrugged their shoulders and sighed.

RRIVINCi from all sections, freshmen poured in to this thriving metropolis, laden with a million articles they would never use, and the wisdom-filled advice from mama and papa. The boys were grected upon arrival by news of the reinstatement of the old tradition; wearing dinks, that is. Their other jobs included guarding the Carolina game bonfire and reciting school yells and cheers, and they were prohibited from sitting on the Chapel steps.
Before the frosh could say, "now sehmor ka pop," the grueling week began. Tests, interriews, physical examinations, and receptions helped them beeome oriented to their new life. Saturday night an open house was arranged by " 5 " workers where freshman girls and boys eould become acquainted. Attired in their Sunday best, boys shyly asked directions to the dormitories, and the girls huddled together in a corner, discussing the age, height and financial status of their guests.

Just about the time the y've leamed the names of a few people the upperelassmen return; an event which shakes the freshman's equilibrium.

Wiienever a wondrous, warmhcarted, winsome sophomore would wish to woo such wanton, woeful waifs as we," . . . and so it went. (ioon Day, created by early believers of freshman unimportance, is a time of de-glamorization. Cavorting in traditional manner, freshmen girls, attired in inside out blue jeans, a pajanta top worn backwards and large signs naming the owner, swept out busses, comforted Washington Duke and pushed cigarettes around the quadrangle with their noses. For these ridiculous antics, the ladies were rewarded by a pigtail from the bencficent sophomores.

The correct evening wear for a well-dressed goon was a tail three-feet long, whiskers, and a pair of ears attached to the jaw, and boys from West eagerly watched as they crawled up the aisles. As the night wore on, the tired freshmen trudged wearily home. The end of another Goon Day. Thank God!

NCE A YEAR the old grads come back to campus and try to relive their college days, and the undergraduates take it as a good opportunity to meet their forerumers and have a whale of a good time for themselves. The climax of the Homecoming weckend is the football game on Saturday, this year with (icorgia Tech. Even though we lost the game, spirits were not depressed for long. The fortunate few were able to get into the various night spots around Durham, while the rest stood outside and looked in wistfully

The fraternities outdid themselves this year in decorations on houses as well as the freshman dormitorics and the Last Campus houses. Originality was rampant, the exhibits ranging all the way from clever "still-life" displays on East and among the freshmen to animated contraptions that taxed the ingenuity of the fraternity men to create them and the judges to figure out just what they were.

Kappa Sigs play hosts to prospective pledges at an open house in there chapter room durmg what is well-maned as the rushong season.

Rushing ON East Campus started in the fall, as usual, and lasted for two hectic weeks, during which the ladies visited and were visited, invited and got invited, and finally, after making their choices, fell weeping and laughing into each other's arms with the abandon and joy of real Greeks, convinced that they had made the perfect choice and college life was really wonderful. It wasn't until the next few days when they discovered two weeks of homework and those masty old quizzes hanging over them that the wailing wall got overworked.

The HCC instituted a new system of rushing with normal relations with freshmen this year, thus making it possible to know more freshmen better by the time spring rushing started in camest. Begiming the first weekend after the second semester opened, one could see such things as freshmen being addressed familiarly by sone fraternity man whom the were unable to place, and the continuous strams of men going in and out of the fratemity houses on Wiest ( amp mes. But here, too, all things must come to an end, and by the first of March, every lodge was convinced that it had the best pledge class on campus.

ONTRARY to Duke Tradition, the weekend of the Spival dances dawned clear. Duke men and women set out anticipating Irene, free cigatettes, and a few laughs

The big occasion began with a concert Friday afternoon, and informal dance that night, and a formal Saturday might ended the festivities.

The Spring weckend heightened the precedent so newly set by hailing Claude Thomhill as the special attraction.

Roger Kirchofer was elected to succeed Chuck White, the first president. The club, a brain child of Larry Lee, proved with much work that big dances were successful in spite of the failure anticipated by a large number of skeptics.

This year only Jumors and Somors were fortumate enough to get tickets to the Co-ed Ball, one of the most popular dances of the year since IIIE CAMPLS SINCiS, with a varicty of entertaimment, gave the students many pleasant and anusing Sunday evenings this year. The Nursing School, for the first time, cance over to Last Campus and presented a scrics of hilarious skits from the operating room, the wards, and the maternity ward of the hospital in an illustration of what a murse gocs through.

Almost anyonc with a yen for theatricals finds his way into the production side of a sing. The Modern Dance Club was represented in sereral dance routines, and quite often more laughs came from the mix-ups with the curtains and the projection slides than from the program. But creryonc had fun, and there was always the mad dash down to the eateries of Wain Strect, although, if you didn't care to cevert yourself, there were many open houses after sings, given by the organzations producing the program. Oh fes, and we sang, too.

PIN.UPS. FRATERNITY LOVE SONCS OPEN

IHIE CHORLS of husky roices hoard across the campus marks the fraternity serenade. calling to mind the random distribution of cigars by the lucky man as he receives the congratulations of his friends. It is a very solemn occasion, broken only by the gentle roar of a freight highballing past, or the muffled chuckle of a front row bass as a wayward raindrop trickles under his collar and down his back. A photographer is always present to record the ceremony but finds many more interesting subjects in pigtails and pajamas peering through darkened windows.

These are the nostalgic by-products of what the grad remembers when he hears the magic word, "serenade."

In Ann Fintomis room, Phi liu's smg sorority songs at her happa Sig serenade following ber acceptance of the creseent and star

Al D'Alomzo and umbentified companom catertan fellow K.rppa Sigs and thear dates at thear fall cahan party at Cobatree Park.

IIIS SIIORT winter leaves on either end of it an expanded fall and spring - both of them being cabin-party season. Cabin party that's a clambake with a Southern exposure. But, in spite of the jokes about dark cabins and cool crenings, to the girl, this is a chance to get out from under the decorum that is socially pressing her and cavort in her blue jeans. To the guy, this is his chance to sec his favorite date at her most primitive, sans books and beaux. To the would-be conedian, this is his chance to corner an audience that is helpless until the trucks come for them. To the chaperon this is a chance to play several hours of bridge. To the selfacelaimed touch foothall player, this is a chance to get out of the catacombs of study for an afternoon. To the bridge fanatic, this is a chance to revel in the surplus of opponents. To cach of these, the cabin party means something individual. But, to all of these, it is an opportunity to relax and rum away from the formalities of the term paper, the book report, the hour exam.

If you're immune to poison isy, like snakes, bugs, burned hot dogs, and a rugged two-hour hike through the underbrush, you're the cabin party type!

H OST Of: LS find a home here for four Yars; some of us are asked to go home before the end of four years; and some of us have to be sent to a home after four years. Fach quadrangle or section has its own characters that make our stay more pleasant. There is the eccentric, probably typed in some psychological handbook, who delights in shooting off fire crackers in the corridors. Ile is irritating to all except those who are practicing to live inside a bass drum. There is the homo-hollerus who rehearses his mating call at the top of his lungs from his tower window at midnight. The answer to his call seems to be "Aah Shaddup," or "Knock it off." There is the home-erentilatus who connes indoors only because that is where his bed is. 1He tries to maintain the enviromment of his native habitat by opening wide all windows and making lesser souls wish they had electrically-heated underwear. Then there is the common, unheralded individual - the student - who asks merely to be ket alone to pursue his course of study. He is learning to be a college graduate

PPARTY, PARTY, PART this temm does not infer that our studies ate left behimed. for it is here that we find a practical application for what we assimibate between the bookends. Lpon entering a parts-place, our knowledge of phesics reminds us that two thangs camot occupy the same place at the same time. But, in spite of the mob, we apply our book psechosogy to the proprictor hoping that he will comjure up some room for a "special friend." Statistics are wrong again when he does the impossible by finding us seating space, and some of us proceed to change our blood chemistry. When the waitress brings the eheck upon our departure, we are glad that we took a course in auditing in order to avoid the complications of ceroncous addition. Truly, we apprectate the academic value of our party life

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA-first among nations in national income! First in production of wheat, corn. cotton, petroleum, coal, and iron! First in communications, in motor vehicles per capita-first in many essentials to good living and prosperity.
And directly related to that position of leadership is our standard of education-for it has been shown that a country's wealth and welfare rise along with its educational standards. And countries rich in natural resources can be poor and backward without the benefits of education.

Yes, the United States is a leader in the field of education too-but for how long? Appalling conditions prevail today in many of our schools. Many of our most brilliant teachers are working against odds-crowded classrooms, shortages of equipment and textbooks, long hours. . . . Tbousands have left the profession for other work.

You, and ciery United States sitizen, will suffer from this situation, because it cannot help affecting our national prosperity before long.

WHAT TO DO?

Today-make it your business to take these two steps: 1. Check up on educational conditions in your local schools; 2. Back up and work with organizations seeking to improve teachers' working and living conditions. For only by keeping our educational standards high can we hold our place in the world -and assure a prosperous future for our children.
